CAMERON ON THE INTERURBAN

Commercial Club Held Live Wire Meeting Friday Evening, Discussing Progress.

An enthusiastic and well attended meeting of the directors of the Cameron Commercial club was held in this city last night. Matters of importance to the growth of Cameron were brought up and discussed. One feature of the meeting was the discussion of the Waco-Temple interurban a branch of which Cameron is going to have when the line is built. This subject was brought up by a member of the board and it was found that the members were just as enthusiastic as ever; nevertheless a discussion of same has not been had for three weeks. Every member of the board present declared himself as squarely behind the project as ever and urged that the enterprise be taken up again and agitated.

County Judge W. G. Gillis reported that he in company with County Engineer A. S. Mitchell had visited Austin the first of the week and had succeeded in getting an additional appropriation from the State highway commission on the Branchville road that is being built. The original appropriation was $25,000 and the amount procured Monday was an additional $15,000. This is a very important road in Central Texas; it will fill up a gap between the two state highways. The connecting road leading from the Dallas-San Antonio road to the Waco-Houston road, it will run through Milam county and Cameron. Another important matter put over by the Milam county officials at Austin was the procuring of $14,000 of the Sap highway appropriation for helping to build the Ben Arnold road. This is a section of the Sap highway designated at a meeting in Cameron last summer. The highway runs from Waco to Giddings and the Ben Arnold strip is the first to get state aid. The entire appropriation in Milam county being $125,000, Judge Gillis reported that four government trucks were ready for use in Milam county and would be brought over as soon as the roads would permit. The allotment is six trucks.

After the meeting of the directors Friday night Ross Smith, who conducts a market and restaurant in this city, invited the 30 members who attended the meeting over to his place of business and served them with delightful venison stew. The evening was most enjoyable and the treat came as a complete surprise to the Commercial club members.

The meeting Friday night was one of the most entertaining held in several weeks; it was intense and with the live wires heading the new projects for Cameron she is bound to grow.

SAN GABRIEL NEWS

With our year as a representative to the Egyptian palm, December matures the twelfth branch and naturally reminds us that ere soon 'tis Xmas. Christmas is Christianity's great festival day. Forged from the most beautiful tradition of humanity, as well as from elements of the Divine, and echoing to eternal voices of that angel choir which sang so many centuries ago above the night-robed hills of Bethlehem. We willingly pause in our headlong rush for material success to listen; and listening, we glow from the piety thus transmitted thru the centuries. It comes drifting down to us from out the misty past with its fairy tales, its pleasant surprises and its atmosphere of resistless joy along with its spirit of peace and good will. A day closely woven into our lives with memories so rich in beautiful and colorful reflections. Christmas Day! Keep it holy! Keep it as a sacred thing! It was bequeathed to us by all that was best in the past and stands for all that is best in the present; and it has been handed down to us by our fathers—let us hand it down to our children, helping to kindle one spark of hope in the sordid life! Surely, this day with its giving and

CONGRESS ADJOURNED FOR HOLIDAYS

Will Resume Legislative Duties in Two Weeks—Hard Tasks Ahead.

Congress adjourned for a holiday recess of two weeks Saturday night. It will return to duty Jan. 5.

The house will begin work on the annual appropriation bills immediately after recess. These total more than four billion dollars and must be materially reduced.

The task of passing the fourteen appropriation measures will occupy the house well into the first month of next year.

The senate will return to resume efforts to reach a compromise on the peace treaty. It will take up water power legislation early in the new year and following that, it is expected, bills to regulate the packing industry will be disposed of.

In both houses an early start is hoped for on legislation reorganizing the army on peace basis.

The senate commerce committee will begin hearings Jan. 5, to frame a permanent policy for the American merchant marine. Conferees on the house and senate railroad bills will work through the holidays.

receiving of gifts and dedicated to that Savior who gave the greatest possible gift, draws us closer together as a family, as a nation and as a race.

Let the tree be an emblem of rejoicing, good will and pleasant passing of the year; an unsparable feature of Xmas festivities; a token that is a part of ourselves and symbolizes a love that is strong enough to derive pleasure out of making gifts and being able to give.

Toys may seem meaningless and effective only as giving pleasure to children, and yet, to busy ourselves thusly, it somehow draws us nearer to the purity and innocence of the child life.

In this spirit San Gabriel is making preparations to entertain the little folks with a Xmas tree Christmas eve night.

WAR MATERIAL IS SOLD IN EUROPE

America Realizes About One-Half Price for Articles—Sum Totals $700,000,000

A total of $700,000,000 was realized by the sale of America's war material in England, France, Belgium, Italy and Germany, Edwin B. Parker of Houston, Tex., chairman of the United States liquidation commission, stated today on his arrival from Europe with five other members of the commission on the transport Powhattan. He said the commission also cleaned up claims due and against the United States for as much more. Its report will be ready in a few days.

Mr. Parker asserted that while it had taken the commission only ten months to dispose of all this country's war stocks abroad, the other allied countries had not yet been able to make an inventory. He denied that motor trucks had been "left to go by the boards," declaring that all motor transport material sold by the commission had been used and that some of it was worn out.

Trucks in Germany were sold to a syndicate for $15,000,000, he said, and a British syndicate bought automobiles for $1,000,000. All American war material was sold in France for $400,000,000. He asserted the articles were sold for more than fifty percent of what they cost.

Much of the material was junk and was more of a liability than an asset, according to Mr. Parker, and as ships were not available it could not be brought home. He said the material would have brought less in America than in Europe.

My subject Sunday at 11 A. M. will be: "How May Cameron Methodism Really Live." I promise to have something worth while to say to Methodists.

LIGHT AND POWER SERVICE IMPROVED

Trouble Saturday Night Caused Anxiety for Few Hours—A. W. Luckett on the Job.

When the dynamo being used at the Cameron Water Power and Light Company's plant was switched from the light service to the water service Saturday night, the starter for the motors was put out of commission.

The ice engine has been put to good service since the arrival of the dynamo several days ago. By the use of same enough power has been available to either pump water or to furnish lights in the business district, this plan was followed by lights being turned on from 5:30 in the afternoon until 8:00 o'clock and two nights until 9:30 and 10 o'clock. The water service being available during the entire day, except with occasional interruptions, this feature being followed in order for the gins and the oil mill to continue operation.

The trouble Saturday night caused considerable worry for the officials of this company, a serious situation confronted them and up until 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon little or no progress was made to get relief and the water supply had to be cut off.

A. W. Luckett, who is undoubtedly an electrical genius, his work in this case proving this fact beyond a doubt, was called by the officials and the electrical equipment turned over to him. At 9 o'clock Sunday night every obstacle had been removed and the water pumps were started. Little did the officials of the company know what was in the dynamo until Mr. Luckett took hold of same. Monday night lights were turned on all over the city and the water supply is rapidly being replenished.

A WARNING.

Manager Lawrence and Mr. Luckett have asked that everybody use as sparingly of the lights as possible. If one family persists in burning all the lights because they think the other fellow is cutting down, you are going to cause everybody to be in darkness again and without water. Mr. Luckett announces that the machine will carry just so much and if a heavier load is put on same it will be done by the people, and the service will be curtailed again. Not only are you asked to save "juice" but to save water.

Some Relief.

The announcement was made Tuesday that parts for the steam engine that had to be made in other cities were beginning to arrive and that it was possible by the first of January to restore power to almost a normal basis, that is for the public use, the dynamo now in operation will be used for water service and the other engine for power.

BLACK-HERNDON.

Miss Mattie Herndon of Rosebud and Mr. Edgar Black of Jones Prairie were married last Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock in this city at the home of the bride's uncle, T. A. Howell, Rev. J. C. McClung, pastor of the Jones Prairie Baptist church officiating. The happy couple left immediately after the ceremony for Jones Prairie to spend the holidays in the home of the groom's parents. They will be in their own home after Jan. 1st.

We join their many friends in wishing them happiness and success in life.

BAPTIST CHURCH SERVICES

Usual services at Baptist church next Sunday. The pastor will speak at both services.

The public is cordially invited to all these services.

B. B. BLAYLOCK, Pastor.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Folmer of Gause were visiting in Cameron Tuesday.

SANITARY WATER SUPPLY IS OBJECT

State Health Officer C. W. Goddard Will Give School For Operators.

Austin, Texas, December 14.—The date for the school for water and filter plant operators of the State that will be given at the University of Texas at the request of the State Board of Health has been announced as February second to fourteenth, inclusive. The work will include illustrated lectures, laboratory work, microscopic work and visits and examination of water supplies and plants. The course will eliminate the usual technical details only essential with which water plant operators deal being given in the simplest manner of presentation. Experiments will be given showing how turbid water may be easily and instantly clarified, how taste and color may be removed, how micro-organisms may be suppressed and eliminated, how hard waters may be softened, and how the death rate of Texas may be lowered by means of intelligent operation.

Each town interested in securing a more sanitary water supply is being urged by the State Board of Health to send one man to take the course, the only expense to the city being the cost of transportation to and from Austin, and board and lodging while in attendance. The course for nurses that will begin at the university January 4, will include part of this work for filter plant operators in order that the nurses as they are installed in various sections of the State will fully understand the relation of the sanitary quality of the water to the public health.

It is the opinion of Dr. C. W. Goddard, State Health Officer, that if every town in the State had a trained man, who is competent to pass on the sanitary conditions of the water his plant furnishes, that many water-borne epidemics that occur throughout the State from time to time would be prevented and it was with this idea in mind that the State Board of Health asked the University to give this course of instruction.

Subjects that will be treated in this school are: "Chemistry of Water," "Bacteriology and Microscopy of Water," "Economic Transmission of Water," "Chlorination of Water," "Protection of Water Supplies," "Scientific Operation of Water Plants," and "Legal Responsibility of Water Companies." The teaching staff for the school will include one of the most prominent water engineers of the South, experts from both the University faculty and the State Board of Health.

DOCTORS EXPERIMENTING ON THEMSELVES

A dispatch to the New York Times from St. Paul says:

To prove his theory that germs do not cause disease, Dr. H. A. Zettel, electropath, of St. Paul, has challenged Dr. H. W. Hill, executive officer of the Minnesota Public Health Association, to a duel to the death with germs. Dr. Hill accepted the challenge and the two will expose themselves to the most virulent of contagious diseases, including typhoid, smallpox, and bubonic plague.

Dr. Zettel will use in his defense against the germs only sanitation, pure air, and sanitary food and drink. Dr. Hill will expose himself after scientific inoculation and vaccination.

Outside of their families we doubt if anyone will object to any more experimentation these doctors may want to practice on themselves.

THE CENSUS ENUMERATORS INSTITUTE

WILL TRY GERMAN CUPRITS IN 1920

Huns Accused of Crimes During War Must Answer to Charges

Paris, Dec. 21.—The trials of persons accused of war crimes will be held in Paris and at Lille in 1920. The court martial at Lille has issued numerous warrants against German officers and soldiers, and a captain and four lieutenants have been imprisoned in the fort at Lille.

A Brussels dispatch says that it has authentic information that Holland is declared to have stated officially that she will not deliver up former Emperor William for trial.

Paris, Dec. 21.—Under Secretary of State for Military Justice Inace left for London today to take part in compiling a list of Germans charged with war crimes, and whose delivery to the entente will be demanded. A conference will be held this week in London to outline joint action by Great Britain, France and Belgium.

France, according to the Echo de Paris, has a list of 500 names ready to submit. Among these names is that of one of the former German emperor's sons, and also that of former Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria and several generals and commanders of prison camps in Germany.

According to this newspaper, about 1,500 persons will be arraigned before military tribunals of each of the three nations or by mixed tribunals.

The case of former Emperor William will be dealt with separately from the London conference.

Geneva, Dec. 20.—A dispatch from Basel states the former German emperor has agreed to accept trial by the allies, but wants to choose the place and time of trial and desires to be defended by German experts. The Basel advices say the former crown prince declares he will never appear if called before a court.

The Hague, Dec. 18.—Long inclined to believe the allies would not make a serious demand for the extradition Dutch government now expects such a demand will be made, the Associated Press was officially informed today.

"We suppose the demand will come before long and that several powers probably will address a joint letter to Holland setting forth the case," the official said.

"Our feeling is that the very men who sign the demand probably will be hoping all the time that we will refuse. This demand will put a small nation in a difficult position, which seems to us, not at all just."

So far as the Associated Press is able to learn, Holland will probably stick to her original intention to refuse a demand for extradition of the former emperor. There is growing feeling in some Dutch circles that the former monarch himself could end the difficulty in which he placed Holland, if he chose to show himself grateful for a year's sanctuary.

"He could end this whole difficulty, so far as Holland is concerned," the official said, "by voluntarily returning to Germany. German press dispatches indicate the German inquiry commission would like to interrogate him. However, from what we can learn, the former kaiser is not likely to do anything like that. He is not afraid to return, but his mind does not run that way. It is against his ideas to appear before any inquiry commission as he still considers himself responsible for nothing wrong."

PREVENTING THE GROWTH OF HORNS

We have always advocated preventing the growth of horns on calves by the use of caustic potash; that is, where one wishes hornless cattle, or to prevent the possibility of someone's later dehorning them. Moisten the spot on the calf's head where the beginning of the horn is felt, and then rub lightly, till red, with the caustic potash, not breaking the skin. We have often done this, and never observed anything like suffering on the calf's part except a slight shaking of the head for a very few minutes. It should be done before the calf is two weeks old. The younger the better. The following in this connection is worth knowing: The pain from the use of caustic potash yields quickly to the application of water, a fact by no means known even by all veterinarians. We fancy that generally the spot is rubbed too hard with the potash.—Our Dumb Animals

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was suplocal remedies, and by constantly failing

it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease,

THE CHRISTMAS TREE

I love to think of the Christmas tree
Of the long, long time ago,
Trimmed with its wonderful ornaments
That were made by hand so slow—
The paper chains, so colored and fine,
And the angels with golden wings,
The gingerbread men and the cotton dolls,
And the old-time home-made things!

There were no gaudy and tinsel strands,
No glowing globes of light,
In those days of the simple Christmas joys,
But the old-time tree was bright!
An angel made of a paper heet
Swung high in the topmost bough
And, oh, there was something fine and sweet
In the homely things, somehow!

Around the base there were farm yard scenes,
All whittled with patient care,
And fitted in with a loving wish
And many a whispered prayer;
And the children laughed and the children leaped
When they marched downstairs at morn—
And I hear, I hear that music still
Of the drum and the wee tin horn!

LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

Make This Beauty Lotion Cheaply
For Your Face, Neck, Arms and Hands.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white.
Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

BETTER THAN NOTHING

The moonlight shone on the lonely house on the hill, where all was peacefully hushed in sleep.

A dark form sat in the shadow of the hedge. Suddenly he moved as a soft whistle heralded someone's approach.

"That you mate?" he whispered
hoarsely, as a stealthy figure approached in the darkness.

"Yus," came the answer.
"What yer doin' with that dog?"

he muttered, as his burglar pal approached.
"Well," answered his confederate,
"there's nothing worth taking in the house and it's bad luck to come away empty-handed, so I brought along the watchdog and these burglar alarms."

PROMINENT MERCHANT FOUND LASTING RELIEF

In a South Carolina county seat a prominent merchant suffered for years with eczema. Money was not a consideration if he could only be relieved from the terrible itching, burning, and irritation. He scratched his back at nights until it bled, but the soreness only became worse. He visited Western Springs, and consulted various physicians, but never found a permanent cure until a friend brought Zemerine to his notice. He tried this great treatment, and now sings its praises highly. Zemerine is a wonderful treatment for diseased skin, especially eczema, tetter, rash, itch, and similar disorders. It is sold upon the fairest basis imaginable—your money will be returned if it does not help you after a fair trial. If you can't get Zemerine at your drugist send $1 or 50 cents to the Zemerine Chemical Company, Orangeburg, S. C., and a jar will be sent you direct.

RATS AND MICE.

Those who are pestered with mice and rats would do well to send for Farmers' Bulletin 896 by David E. Lantz, assistant biologist of the department. The conclusions given here will doubtless be worth much to those who make use of them.

The measures for repressing and eliminating rats and mice include the following:

The requirement that all new buildings erected shall be made rat-proof under competent inspection.

That all existing rat-proof buildings shall be closed against rats and mice by having all openings accessible to the animals, from foundation to roof, closed or screened by door, window, grating, or meshed wire netting.

That all buildings not of rat-proof construction shall be made so by remodeling, by the use of materials that may not be used by rats, or by elevation.

The protection of our native hawks, owls, and smaller predatory animals—the natural enemies of rats.

Greater cleanliness about markets, grocery stores, warehouses, courts, alleys—stables, and vacant lots in cities and villages, and like care on farms and suburban premises. This includes the storage of waste and garbage in tightly covered vessels and the prompt disposal of it each day.

Care in the construction of drains and sewers, so as not to provide entrance and retreat for rats. Old brick sewers in cities should be replaced by concrete or tile.

The early threshing and marketing of grains on farms, so that stacks and mows shall not furnish harborage and food for rats.

Removal of outlying straw stacks and piles of trash or lumber that harbor rats in fields and vacant lots.

The keeping of provisions, seed grain, and foodstuffs in rat-proof containers.

Keeping effective rat dogs, especial-

In a few cases employees of these institutions will have received 100 per cent bonuses over their salary of the preceding year.

HEROIC CHOCTAW IS CHOSEN AS MODEL AMERICAN SOLDIER

Washington, Dec. 17.—Otis W. Leader, a Choctaw Indian of Calvin, Okla., who was with the artillery force which fired the first American shots in the world war has been selected as a model by the French artist, Dewareux, for a portrait of a typical American soldier.

Leader, who trained with the famous Blue Devils when he went to France, was almost continuously under fire having engaged in the major operations at Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel and Argonne. At Chateau Thierry he was cited for fighting with the infantry for three days after the entire gun crew to which he had been attached, had been killed. During the engagement he succeeded in capturing two machine guns and thirteen prisoners.

Leader now is taking vocational training under the direction of the federal board and still is under treatment for mustard gas burns.

The organization of clubs and other societies for systematic warfare against rats.

DEATH RATTLE OF CALOMEL IN SOUTH

Dodson is Destroying Sale of Dangerous Drug with His "Liver Tone."

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's Dodson's guarantee! Ask your druggist for a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your liver and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless, so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate so let them eat anything afterwards.

YOUR COUNTY NEWSPAPER

All through the southwest—in almost every well populated county—are small local newspapers fulfilling admirably their important mission. Filled with the local news of the different communities, they are truthful and interesting chronicles of the lives of the people, their sorrows, their joys, their misfortunes, their progress. From week to week they tell of the planting and condition of crops, of harvest, of market conditions. Their columns are open to fair-minded discussions by the public on matters of general interest, and they are always in the lead in any progressive undertaking. However harsh and unnecessary sometimes may seem their criticism in their zeal for a cause, however impracticable sometimes may be their propositions and candor forces us to admit that nearly always they are honest and their purpose is the furthering of the public weal.

By the very nature of its position the county newspaper cannot be considered a purely private enterprise. It is essentially a public institution, and as such deserves and must have the support of the people among whom it circulates. If no one else in your neighborhood is sending its news in to your county paper, it is your duty to do it. Every week or two write for it a breezy truthful, sensible chronicle of the happenings in your community. When you are in town, call on the editor and talk with him about your work and his. When you hear the paper unjustly criticised, defend it warmly; when you find a home that does not receive it, commend it freely.

The man who does not support his county paper has no right to criticize it, either as to news or moral or general tone. Get yourself intimate with it and its editor, show him what you are doing on your farm, and what you would like to see done, or not done, in your community and county. When you have thus made your interests his, and his yours, then insist on his making and keeping your paper and his a clean, moral sheet and in every way the great influence for good that it should be.

Our newspapers, like our schools, and churches, are just what we want them and make them by our interested support, or lack of it.—O. C. Payne in Farm and Ranch.

Health About Gone

Many thousands of women suffering from womanly trouble, have been benefited by the use of Cardui, the woman's tonic, according to letters we receive similar to this one from Mrs. Z. V. Spell, of Hayne, N. C. "I could not stand on my feet, and just suffered terribly," she says. "As my suffering was so great, and he had tried other remedies, Dr. — had us get Cardui. . . I began improving, and it cured me. I know, and my doctor knows, what Cardui did for me, for my nerves and health were about gone."

TAKE

CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

She writes further: "I am in splendid health . . . can do my work. I feel I owe it to Cardui, for I was in dreadful condition." If you are nervous, run-down and weak, or suffer from headache, backache, etc., every month, try Cardui. Thousands of women praise this medicine for the good it has done them, and many physicians who have used Cardui successfully with their women patients, for years, endorse this medicine. Think what it means to be in splendid health, like Mrs. Spell. Give Cardui a trial.

WHAT CAN BE DONE IN ONE DAY

Every day is such a usual occurrence that its true significance does not come home to us. We get so used to our days that we are blind to their universal possibilities.

In the beginning one-sixth of the whole world was made in a day, yet how many of us feel that we can do one-sixth, or even the hundredth of all the things we ought to do in one day.

Within one day the battle of Waterloo and the battle of the Marne were both won. There was a day when you were born and a day when you will die. How about the days between? A man can change the fortune of the entire life in a day. Upon all the decisions which lie within a single day are the possibilities of a lifetime. The idleness of one day leads to the habit of idleness in all the days thereafter. What we can do in one day determines quite largely what we do in all days.

Every day should be complete in itself, a gem of reality taken from the cluster of eternity. Every day should have its vacation period. Men break down because they crowd out the vacation from each day and then think they can make it up by devoting a fixed number of days to this object. Suppose the heart should go on this principle and beat twice as hard nineteen-twentieths of the time and then try to stop completely for one-twentieth?

Every day is entitled to the privilege of making every one of us a wholesome, well-rounded human being. We must not fight off our days from their privilege. We must give them a chance.

Why wait for another day to do something? If that something is worth doing, put it somewhere into today, or the probability is that you will never do it at all. Don't think necessarily that you must give that something a front box or let it take up most of the space there is. Tell it frankly that you want it inside of your day and that you will make a place for it somewhere, even if it isn't the best place. Thus the highest moment you have, the flash of divine inspiration, the holy thought the message of love, will never be crowded out of your day. Out of your day will come all good things.—Woman's Home Companion.

ONWARD MARCH OF THE FILIPINO WOMEN

It is practically certain that the vote. Present indications are that Filipino woman will soon have the she will even beat her American sisters to the ballot box. An equal suffrage bill giving women full political rights with men was passed by a Philippine senate and sent to the branch of the Philippine legislature on the question of woman's suffrage is believed to be about the same as in the senate. A Manila correspondent says the Filipino woman is by custom the dictator in the home. She is usually the keeper of the family treasury. All revenue, no matter by whom earned is turned over to the wife and mother and she it is who has the final say as to how it is to be spent. Filipino women are now occupying positions in the bureau of education and the University of the Philippines. There have been established over fifty woman's clubs in the Philippines, engaged in social settlement work, improvement of health conditions and the prevention of infant mortality. Doors of each of the several colleges of the University of the Philippines stand open and she passes in side by side with her brother. Practically all the small shops in Manila are conducted by the women and women own the best paying iron mines in the islands. Philippine independence is coming in the near future.

A THOUGHT OF THE WEEK

The earth pays for what it gets—the rain and the sunshine and the breezes of heaven—with fruitfulness, waving grain, buds and blossoms and fruits, and the smiling green of fields. It isn't a mere sponge, receiving always and never responding to the giver. It gives back everything with an added something of its own. The earth is honest, generously honest. And a man ought not to be any less so. He is getting every day and hour and moment of his life, getting from all sides and in all possible ways. From the God who rules his life down to the little child who meets him on the street everyone gives him something. If he is going to be as honest as the earth is, he will have to be busy all the time paying his debts, giving back what he gets so freely and generously to everyone he can, and in all ways that he can. If he doesn't he is something of a sponge, instead of a man.—Progressive Farmer.

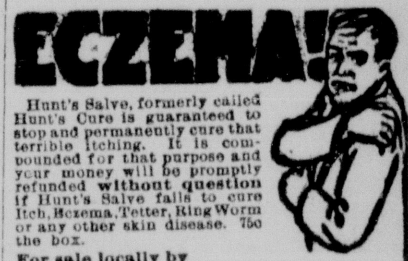

Apparatus that massages women's throats with sprays of water to improve their contours has been invented.

A certain poor woman, whose husband was going to sea, handed thru the clerk to the minister this notice, which she desired him to read in church: "A man going to sea, his wife desires the prayers of the congregation."

FORTY-TWO PARTY

One of the prettiest parties ever given in Cameron was the Forty-two Club meeting with Mrs. B. P. Atkinson Thursday afternoon. Outside everything was miserably cold and rainy, but the house all was delightfully warm, bright and cozy. Holly and poinsettias were used profusely in decorating, and tally cards and score pads for the six tables were in holly design. Xmas stars of gold marked successful games and eighty-four favors were tiny Xmas bells, Xmas trees, snow men, and Santa Claus. At the conclusion of the games a candle glowing under a lovely red shade was placed in the center of each table, and through the house the cheerful glow from red and green candles gave a Xmas atmosphere to the festive scene. Most delicious two-course refreshments were daintily served by Misses Louise Kathrine, Florence, and Mary Virginia Atkinson, and consisted of creamed chicken in patties, pimiento salad, hot rolls, stuffed celery, olives and individual plum pudding and hard cider.

Sprays of holly tied with red ribbons made appropriate plate favors. Those enjoying Mrs. Atkinson's hospitality other than club members were: Mesdames W. O. Triggs, N. H. Lutts, Hubert Atkinson, Andrew Freeman, J. L. Clinton, U. S. Hearrell B. Slocumb, J. M. Ralston, R. D. Brown; Misses Beth Jeter, Mary McLane, Lillian Atkinson and Winnie Henderson.

GIRLS CLUB

Thursday afternoon at the Girls Club meeting the following program was rendered:

1. A Xmas Reading—Velda Walker
2. A story of the Tree Wise Men—Mildred Chambers.
3. Girls Club Continued Story—Maurine Messimer.

This interesting program was followed by a Xmas tree, beautifully dressed with tinsel, candles, and gifts for the members of the club. Many of the gifts were "sells" and these furnished much merriment. The girls club is a wide-awake organization, composed of the Junior and Senior girls of the Cameron High School, and Miss Bass has made them a most excellent sponsor this year. The Xmas celebration was just one more of the many nice affairs the club has enjoyed during this session.

Ivar Skougard, of Baylor University, spent Sunday in Cameron.

COLLEGE GIRLS AND BOYS.

Cameron is taking on a gayety since the arrival in the city of so many of the girls and boys from college. The following young folks are home from school for the holidays.

From the University of Texas: Misses Emma Atkinson, Katy McCall, Agnes Dusek and Messrs. Knox Tyson, Price Cross, George Hefley, Elliott Atkinson, Moulton Cobb, J. and Hilton Howell. From the medical branch of the University, Edward Shaw.

From A. and M. College: Clifton Rogers, Charlie Nabours, L. J. Epperson, Vernon Roberts, George Clement, Fontaine Flinn, Cecil Barmore, Ben Baskin, and Fred Meyers.

From Baylor University: Misses Louise Green, Ruth Coleman, Mabel Jeter, Sue Harlan, Nadeen Bragg, and Messrs. Mike and Jim Coleman.

From Baylor College: Misses Harriett Henderson, Owen Bacon, Annie Lee Peoples, and Ruth Blunt.

From Southern Methodist University: Misses Gladys Watson, Louise Gillon and Reba Cheeves.

From Southwestern University: Misses Irene Cheeves, Anna Lou Baskin, Maurine House and Messrs. Claude Triggs, Nat Wafford and Jack and Walter Adams.

From College of Industrial Arts: Miss Motie Cass.

From Dallas Kinderarten: Miss Sallie Kate McLane.

From Castle Heights, Tenn: Jack Vest and Drayton McLane.

DANCE AT LEGION HALL

The regular Friday night dance at Legion Hall took on an extra note of gayety from the fact that the dancers appeared in masks, clowns, fairies, Colonial ladies, wild west boys, and Gypsies, met as friends and danced together. There was much surprise when the masks were removed. One of the belles of the ball, an erstwhile school girl in prim Hofflin suit, turned out to be a young gentleman of the town. The affair had all the air of a New Orleans Mardi Gras, and the young people enjoyed it accordingly.

The Avrietts had a family gathering dinner party, and Xmas tree at Mrs. Ida Avriett's Sunday. With Mrs. Avriett were: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rogers and three children, Mr. and Mrs. Giles Avriett and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDermott and little daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Triggs, Miss Myrtle Avriett, and Mr. Rupert Harkrider of Abilene.

XMAS SERVICES IN THE CHURCHES

For the Xmas sermon at the Methodist Church Sunday morning there was a program of special music. Mr. Robert Smith, Organist, played the piano selections, and there were solos by Mesdames J. L. Clinton and Alex Triggs of Rosebud. The choir sang "Joy to the World," and "O, Little Town of Bethlehem."

Sunday night Rev. Key preached a special Xmas sermon, which was in the form of an illustrated lecture. Choruses of soldiers and Red Cross nurses and a choir of children assisted Rev. Key with the service. Miss Jewel Joslin told the story of the Red Cross, Miss Ruth Rosemary Kemp gave a Xmas reading and there were special solos by Miss Eloise Rogers and little Misses Key and Caroline Cheeves. After the service Rev. Key gave the children a treat of apples and oranges.

The children of the Presbyterian Sunday School had a special Xmas service at the church Sunday night which followed the program set in their Xmas Vision. The little folks marched by classes and placed gifts into a basket for orphan children. The feature of the evening was a nightie drill and song by the beginners, who carried to the basket tiny socks filled with pennies. The entire program was rendered by the church and was splendidly executed and greatly enjoyed.

Instead of the regular sermon at the Baptist Church Sunday night, a musical program was rendered. There were eighteen numbers, consisting of solos, hymns and anthems. Mr. Robert Smith at the piano and Miss Ruth Sprinkel at the organ gave two very beautiful selections. It is to be hoped that Cameron will have many more such musical treats.

JUNIOR B. Y. P. U. PARTY.

Miss Winnie Henderson, leader of the Junior Baptist Young Peoples' Union, entertained the members of the Union with a Christmas party at the church Friday night. There was a program consisting of Xmas readings and songs. On a Xmas tree, presided over by a Santa Claus, the children placed gifts which will be sent to the Buckner Orphans. Refreshments of punch, cake, and candy were served. Miss Olive McGehee assisted Miss Henderson with her entertaining.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Triggs had a family dinner party at their home Friday night in honor of Mrs. W. H. Triggs' birthday. The party came as a complete surprise to Mrs. Triggs, who was made happy by having all of her children and grand children seated at the table with her on this occasion. At the table were: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Triggs, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Triggs and sons, George Wm. Albert and Monta, Mrs. Howard Baskin and children, Clyde, William and Lena Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Triggs and little son, Bill Alex, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Triggs, and Mr. Claude Triggs.

C. L. C.

The C. L. C., otherwise known as the Cameron Literary Club, and composed of the girls of the Freshman and Sophomore classes, had a Xmas tree at the School House Thursday afternoon. This was a "gift tree," and was loaded with presents which the members of the C. L. C. will send to girls and boys not so fortunate as themselves.

Cameron Girls have been busy this fall in various parts of the state helping to teach the young idea how to shoot. Now that the Xmas holidays are here, however, we are glad to welcome them home from their schools. Among those who have returned are: Misses Esther Fielder of Friendship; Janet Pardo of Cyclone; Naomi Pardo of Troy; Sue Shaw of Karnes City; Dora Shaw of New Salem; Maude McGehee of Minerva; Mary Burns of Eagle Lake; Ruth Wiley of San Antonio; Grace Gillon of Bellville; Lorena Ruby of Burlington; Virginia Vest of Crosbyton; Katharine Henderson of Uvalde; Lucille Hooks of Buckholts, and Mabel Favers of Rice.

Mrs. Whitliff and son of Waco, are Christmas guests of the McDermotts.

ON CHRISTMAS NIGHT

Seems to me the stars shine brighter Christmas night;
Seems to me the snow lies whiter Christmas night;
That the solemn trees stand straighter,
And the frosty moon sets later,
And the hush is stiller, greater,
Christmas night.

Seems to me sad things are fewer Christmas night;
Seems to me glad things are truer Christmas night;

Seems to me the bells ring clearer From their steeples, louder, nearer—
Seems to me the bells ring clearer Christmas night!

—Nancy Byrd Turner, in "Youth's Companion."

Miss Olive Henderson spent Saturday in Waco.

CANSTANT CHRISTMAS

O never-failing splendor!
O never-silent song!
Still keep the green earth tender,
Still keep the grey earth strong.

Still keep the brave earth dreaming
Of deeds that shall be done,
While children's lives come streaming
Like sunbeams from the sun.

O angels, sweet and splendid,
Throng in our hearts and sing
The wonders which attended
The coming of the King.

Till we, too, bodily pressing
Where once the shepherds trod,
Climb Bethlehem's hill of blessing,
And find the Son of God!

CHRISTMAS STORIES.

Third Day of Creation.

God made the waters to collect into oceans, seas, bays, lakes, etc., and dry land to appear which He named Earth. Then God told the Earth to bring forth trees, vines and bushes to blossom and fruit, grasses and flowers.—Oh! how pretty the Earth must have looked!

Fourth Day of Creation.

God created the Sun, the moon and stars before creating the earth, but heavy mists or fogs hung over the earth so they could not be seen; on the fourth day God had the fogs to pass away and Mother Earth felt the bright warm rays of sunshine which make the atmosphere warm and healthy for plants and animals and people and helps them to grow strong. If the sun should quit sending his warm rays to the earth, everybody would freeze to death, so would all the animals, the pretty birds and beautiful flowers and plants, and the fruits we love to eat, the rivers and lakes would turn to ice and freeze all the fishes.

Aren't you glad God made a great big world of fire, which we call sun, to keep our mother earth warm?

God made the sun to rule, therefore, all the big planets go round and round the sun and that makes our seasons. Spring, summer, fall or autumn, winter, and because the sun shines so much brighter than all the other planets he is often called the King of Day. The earth is shaped like a great big orange and turns over once every twenty-four hours. When the earth is turned so the sunlight falls near us we call it day, and when the earth is turned so the sun light does not fall near us, we call it night, the best time for sleep and rest. God wants us to pray and bid everything good-night and go to bed.

While you little tots are kissing your mama and papa good-night and slipping on your nighties, the little people in Japan and China are rubbing open their sleepy eyes and peeping at the beautiful sunrise. Sometimes night comes and the sun changes the floating clouds to many colors, mostly crimson and gold and then hides behind the horizon, where the earth and clouds seem to meet, you know, 'tis twilight and then out peeps a twinkling star, here and there, until the whole canopy of heaven is twinkling and winking at you and then first thing you know you comes the silver moon in all her splendor. God made the moon to go around our earth and that's why sometimes it is so dark and sometimes so beautiful and bright and because the moon is so much brighter than the stars she is called the queen of night. At times when the moon is not shining for us and no clouds hide the heavens, the stars twinkle and glow and try to tell us God is still watching over us; for they are just signals of love from our Heavenly Father, although some great poet called them "the for-get-me-nots of the angels." Don't you think we ought to thank our Heavenly Father all these good and beautiful things?

Day and night together have twenty-four hours and there are 365 days in a year—just think how many beautiful sunrises and sunsets and pretty nights we have from Xmas to Xmas. Well, away up near the north end of the earth called North Pole and away down at the south end or South Pole, they have only one day, six months long and one night six months long. What do you think of that? Of course, the people, we call the Eskimos, can not sleep all those dark months and have to use torch lights to hunt reindeer, wolves, big white bears, cut blocks of ice out of the rivers to fish in or kill the seals or harpoon a whale. Aren't you glad you are a child of the "Sunny South" where even during our cold months after the green leaves have changed to gold and reds and browns and carpeted Mother Earth—often sprigs of green grasses peep through and flowers bloom and perfume the air.

Well, the "Little Tots" of the far North and far South dress in furs made from skins of wild animals and the wee babies in clothes made of down or feathers from wild birds. They live in ice houses cut out of mountains of ice; lined and carpeted with skins of wild animals—ride in sleighs pulled by dogs or reindeer. They have no way to warm their churches, so when they take their little children they dig a hole in the snow near by, wrap the little ones in fur and put it in the hole and cover with snow and leave them to sleep while they go into the church and listen to the sermon. Would you love for your mama and papa to treat you that way? How glad they must be to see their glorious sunrise and warm the air a little, so they can fish and hunt and what fun they have skating on ice, hunting duck eggs and sleigh-riding, trapping animals, watching riverlets trickle down mountains of snow sometimes causing mountain slides.

LITERATURE LOVING LADIES.

When Dante told his love to Bee,
In limpid song that held no flaw,
Pledging eternal constancy,
—She answered, "Aw!"

When Herrick sang his Julia's praise
With magic words the maid he wooed;
And when she heard his lyric lays,
"Uh-huh," she cooed.

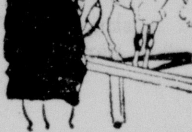

When Byron hurled his burning chants
At every Mabel, Jane or Liz,
She listened to his gay romance
And lisped, "Gee whizz!"

And when to Carolyn I sang
As Dante, Herrick, Byron did,
She acts as charmed, as anything,
And cries, "Oh, kid!" —The Jester.

DETAIL OF SOME IMPORTANCE

To Most People It Would Seem a Necessary Part of Outfit Had Been Omitted.

Col. John K. Hendrick, former congressman from the first district of Kentucky, has an attribute common among the citizens of his state he greatly admires a good trotting horse.

One fine spring morning he visited the driving track near the town where he resides, to spend a happy hour quietly watching various owners and trainers exercising their stock. A tobacco raider from the back of the county swung down the home stretch behind a bony, awkward, skittish, weird-looking animal. The trap in which the farmer sat was the best that money could buy, and as shiny as paint and varnish could make it; the harness was new, ornate, and elaborate. He halted in front of Colonel Hendrick.

"Hey, John!" he called out. "What do you think of this outfit?"

"Fine, Jeff; fine!" stated Colonel Hendrick. "Perfectly splendid! I congratulate you. There's only one thing more needed to make it absolutely complete."

"What's that?" demanded the surprised countryman.

"A hoss!" said the colonel.

"Tire" Chains for Human Feet.

For weeks the streets of New York, Chicago, and various other American cities have been covered with a thick layer of smooth ice, resulting in an uncertain footing for pedestrians and in an unusual number of falls. Rubbers have been of but little use as a means of maintaining one's equilibrium on the slippery surface. Indeed, to many, particularly the aged folk, the icy pavements have been a constant source of terror, the Scientific American states.

Whether the ice remains or not, relief is in sight. The introduction of the tire chain principle for pedestrians now promises to solve the icy pavement problem. This up-to-the-minute device consists merely of a simple chain net which slips under the sole of each shoe, and a leather strap which passes about the heel and serves to hold the antislip member in place. As in the instance of the conventional tire chain, this foot chain effectively prevents slipping.

Ventilating Prospect Holes.

A novel method has been adopted by some ingenious prospectors in Montana for ventilating their prospect holes. When they have dug to such a depth that fresh air no longer circulates freely to the bottom of the hole, they set up an air-tight stove at the edge of the shaft, putting up three or four lengths of stovepipe for a chimney and running another pipe from the bottom of the hole to the air intake at the front of the stove. The latter pipe is held in place by fastening it to the shaft timbering. When a fire is built in the stove, air is drawn from the bottom of the shaft and fresh air circulates downward to replace it. Ventilation can be secured in this way to a considerable depth.

Government Clerks Employed.

A provincial British paper prints the following tribute to the activity of government clerks in these times, with an added sarcasm as to their supposed idleness in former days:

"In a stroll through town by night one may see in certain streets many men doing clerical work behind blindless windows. They are the overtimers of the government departments, some of which have extended to extra houses. The spectacle may satisfy the persons who used to complain that, despite all the schemes for relieving the unemployed, nothing seemed to be done for young men in government offices."—Outlook.

A Discordant Note.

Life is made possible to us by the sacrifices of other people. The wheel would soon come to a standstill if there were no unselfish love in the world. When we become so self-centered that we think only of ourselves and the gratification of our own desires, our lives are a discordant note in the harmony of the universe. We must be loving and unselfish to pay back the debt we owe.—Girl's Companion.

Seek Tomb of St. Paul.

St. Paul's tomb is being sought for by archeologists in Rome. Excavations which have been made near the basilica of St. Paul have revealed interesting pagan and Christian tombs, dealing from the first period of Christianity in Rome. Professor Lanciani hopes to discover the tomb of St. Paul.

JAMES QUARLES DIES AT AUSTIN

Secretary of State Board of Water
Engineers.—Prominent
Newspaperman

Austin, Tex., Dec. 22.—James Hays Quarles, secretary of the state board of water engineers, was found dead in bed early this morning. Death was due to natural causes, an attack of acute indigestion resulting in his demise.

Mr. Quarles was widely known over the state, having been connected with practically every important Texas newspaper during the past 25 years. He had been in the state's service for about two years.

Began Newspaper Career in 1890
Waco, Tex., Dec. 22.—The funeral of Mr. Quarles will take place here Tuesday afternoon, on the arrival of the Katy train from Austin, this train being scheduled to reach here at 2:55 P. M. Rev. W. P. Witzell, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, of which Mr. Quarles was a member, will officiate, and interment will be made in Oakwood cemetery.

Jim Quarles was born in Waco, Oct. 16, 1869, little more than fifty years ago, and he was reared in this city. As a boy his first work was that of office boy for the Bradstreet commercial agency here.

It was in 1890 that Jim began his newspaper career, and his first journalistic career, and his first journalistic work was gathering society personals for the Waco Morning Day this being prior to the time that women were utilized for the handling of society items in Waco papers. Mr. Quarles was a protege of the late State Senator A. R. McCollum, under whose tutelage he developed into one of the best known newspaper men connected with practically every daily paper in Waco, and his last work as a newspaper man in this city was that of news editor of the Waco Daily Tribune. He left here in about October, 1917, to accept the position of secretary of the state board of water engineers, which he occupied at the time of his death.

Mr. Quarles, at one time, was on the staff of the Dallas News, the Fort Worth Gazette and other big state papers, and for quite awhile he was night editor of the Houston Post. He conducted weekly papers, at Brenham and Minesville, and he was connected with a paper in Richmond, Va. when Dr. R. E. Vinson, at that time pastor of a church in that city, was called to the presidency of the University of Texas.

For some years Mr. Quarles was in charge of the publicity department of A. and M. college, being the first to fill this position, which he did with his well known ability.

Jim Quarles was a cousin of the late Mark Twain, and the latter some time before his death, sent Mr. Quarles an autograph copy of all his works. Mr. Quarles was also in intimate friend of Opie Read, and the latter utilized Mr. Quarles as one of the characters in one of his books.

District Court
The case of State vs. H. G. Smith, which was reported in last week's is-sue, went to trial Monday morning, and resulted in a verdict of not guilty Wednesday afternoon about 4:00 o'clock. The jury took less than 20 minutes to render the verdict.

Mr. Smith was alleged to have killed a negro, named Osie Lowery, at his farm on the 23rd day of last August, and claimed to have shot him in self-defense. The evidence developed that the negro was grasping a Colt 45 revolver in his hand at the time he was killed. Contrary to the usual question, all 12 of the members of the jury signed the verdict.

Mr. Smith resides near Baileyville in this county on his farm with his wife and one child, and is a highly respected citizen. He was surrounded by many friends during the progress of the trial.

The defendant, in this case, was represented by Messrs. Wallace & Chambers, and the State by County Attorney Baskin and the Assistant Attorney, A. J. Lewis.

NEW PLANET RESPONSIBLE

New York, Dec. 21.—A new planet is believed to be responsible for irregularities in the motion of the planet Neptune, Prof. Harold Jacoby of Columbia university, announced tonight.

It is supposed to be about the same size as the earth, but farther away from the sun than any other planet.

Professor Jacoby said that astron-omers of the country will attempt to locate and photograph the new celestial body between Dec. 30 and Jan. 31 when conditions are "most favorable to the discovery."

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC is not a patent medicine, it is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, it would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store. 60c per bottle.

RELIGIOUS WORSHIP

How many of our people enter a church for a religious meeting, with a facing quite unlike that with which they attend a rally of the various kinds held by the community? Is the sense of worship becoming absent from our churches? There is a tendency that way, at any rate, and it is causing religious leaders to think.

The Baptist Standard, at Chicago says: "No one familiar with the status of public worship in this country can deny that in many churches it has been largely secularized. While this is particularly true of the Sunday evening service, it is true in a measure of the Sunday morning service. Our congregations are congregations no longer; they are loist whose work, however technically perfect, is often not conducive to worship. While the scripture is being read, many in the audience are reading the printed calendar; and during the prayer only a part of the audience has the attitude of worship. In many cases this non-worshipful atmosphere is due to kal-somine and kindred things, for we have not yet acquired the art of building meetinghouses in which worship is easy and natural. In other cases it is due to a fundamental lack of reverence in the one who conducts the service."

MINISTER EXPOUNDS SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS

Dr. George W. Truett Says Love of God and Service are Inseparable

"A man can not love God without serving humanity," declared Dr. George W. Truett in his Christmas sermon yesterday morning at the First Baptist Church. "Love of God embraces human service, and one can not discharge his obligation to God without uplifting and inspiring needy humanity."

Dr. Truett used as his text the passage from St. Matthew which reads: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

"This passage expresses the very spirit of service. Every man, however mean, impoverished or abandoned, is infinitely sublime in the eyes of God, and he adjures us to help all such persons. We may ask, 'Who is our neighbor?' Our neighbor is anybody who has need of our message of ministry. He may live next door to us, he may live in some other city or he may be an inhabitant of some far-away island. If he have need of our services, we must help him."

"I have no use for the monk, the hermit or the recluse. Such men can never do their real duty by humanity. To do this we must mingle with the throng, find out the needs of mankind and do our part toward lightening the load of life for everyone we meet."

World a Whispering Gallery
"The doctrine of the solidarity of mankind is being preached more and more. And well it should be. We have come to learn that one nation can not live apart from the rest of the world, but that the whole world is one big whispering gallery, and that what we do here is known and felt on the other side of the planet."

"No man can live unto himself alone, neither can any nation live unto itself alone. We are all bound up in the big bundle of life. We must arrive to uplift, inspire and disenthral for the Christmas spirit exhorts that we do so. The Christmas spirit is constructive; it involves obligations to mankind that are inescapable."

Dr. Truett declared that although it is contrary to his policy to discuss political issues in the pulpit, it was his conviction that the men responsible for delayed action on the peace treaty and League of Nations will answer for their acts before the judgment bar of God. He said he was not surprised that some Japanese newspapers referred to the United States Senate as a "frivolous body" for its dilatory tactics.

Following the sermon an offering was taken, to be used in buying food and clothing for the orphans of the Buckner Orphanage.

Dr. Truett announced that he had not had time to prepare his annual Christmas cards for members and friends of the church, but that his Yuletide message and greetings were published yesterday in the "Reminder," the weekly church bulletin.

"MERRY CHRISTMAS"

Hail Merry Christmas—the merriest day of the merriest year in many, many years.

Then "Merry Christmas" Everyone.

It's an age-old, time-worn adage, but there's nothing that will ever more fully express our wishes, and so we are wishing it for you.

The nearer we approach the happy Yuletide Season the more we are impressed with the warm, throbbing, joyous significance of "Merry Christmas and this year it's going to be a very merry one."

For the best of all that this year brings to us is the revival of that old-time spirit of warmth and contentment, interspersed with a glad new joy. We have at last stripped away some of the shucks of show and superficiality and have found revealed the rare, true, untarnished kernel of the old-fashioned Christmas—the gift-spirit of service, of forgetting ourselves in the happiness of others.

Then welcome, Merry Christmas day,
When spirits glow, as candles gleam,
And joyous children lead the way
To happiness supreme.
When warmth and love and friendliness,
Replace our selfish, small desires,
As heart meets heart, at Love's behest,
Around the Yuletide fires.

ENFORCING PROHIBITION

Announcement is made that the task of enforcing war prohibition will be placed squarely up to the local state and municipal authorities. The federal government it is said, will not intervene until obvious inefficiency on the part of the local official make such a step imperative. This means that where the people of the country favor prohibition the laws will be in their hand, and enforcement of it will be up to them so long as they make a decent showing. In wet cities and sections however, where local officials are out of sympathy with the laws, special effort will be made by the government to enforce the law.

This is a new interpretation of enforcing a federal law, but we are not disposed to quibble. The government will have its hands full for a time, and all good citizens everywhere should help in making the law respected. As Federal Enforcement Commissioner Kramer says there will be now only two classes, those "who are in favor of obeying the law, whether their personal views are in harmony with the law or not, and those who will be ready and anxious to violate the law."

This is a fair statement of the case. We are all apt to praise laws, and the due observation thereof, when they suit us and put the screws to the rest of the folks, but whenever one of them happens to stop some of our own privileges, we open up and begin to shout "personal liberty." The sickest sort of antics are being performed by the bitter-souled and anti-prohibitionists, who are really anxious to see others violate the laws, even if they are not game enough to do so themselves. Prohibition will be enforced in time; there is no doubt about that.

FOSTER'S WEEKLY WEATHER BUREAU

Warm waves will reach Vancouver about Dec. 29, Jan. 4 and 10 and temperatures will rise on all the Pacific slope. They will cross crest of Rockies by close of Dec. 30, Jan. 5 and 11; plains sections 31, Jan. 6 and 12; meridian 90, great lakes, middle Gulf states and Ohio-Tennessee valleys Jan. 1, 7, 13; eastern see valleys 2, 8, 14, reaching vicinity of Newfoundland about Jan. 3, 9, 15. Storm waves will follow about one day behind warm waves, cool waves about one day behind storm waves.

These disturbances of our otherwise quiet, orderly, well-behaved atmosphere will dominate—control—the weather of this continent from about Dec. 29 to near Jan. 15. These disturbances are caused by planetary positions of which official science is completely ignorant, because it has continually looked in the wrong direction. I am not quite ready to discuss the causes, but I may say that our Moon always has something to do with these disturbances, altho it has no independent control of the storm forces.

Traditions, recorded in many old writings and copied into the Bible, say the Earth was formerly watered by a mist. That is exactly what conditions would be if we had no Moon and I believe these conditions prevailed before our Earth captured the comet, that now is the Moon. There would be no storms, no floods, no drouths, because the planetary effects on our atmosphere would be gradual, steady, if we had no moon. The Moon loads up with these forces till the electro-magnetism, like a thunder-bolt, unloads onto the Earth and we then have the severe storms, earthquakes and other disturbances.

This weather period, Dec. 29 to Jan. 15, will have one principal disturbance that will be dumped onto us during the week centering on Jan. 14 and one less severe storm during the week centering on Jan. 4. Two principal cold waves are expected to reach meridian 90 near Jan. 4 and 22 and three principal warm waves that will reach meridian 90 near Jan. 1, 13, 25. Temperatures of the month are expected to average from about 10 above normal east of Rockies and from about 10 below normal west of that line. Crop weather of the month will be fair, except a deficiency of precipitation in spots of the cotton States.

In my bulletin dated Nov. 22 and Dec. 6 I gave warnings of a warm wave, followed by severe storms and a cold wave during the week centering on Dec. 7. These disturbances were on time, fully as severe as predicted. However, in the 1st half of December contains a great earthquake probability I all say that if the earthquake occurs any place on the Earth it will lessen the force of the storms, because it is the same electro-magnetic overcharge that causes the common storm, the tornado, the hurricane, the earthquake, the sunspot, the cold wave and they cannot all be severe at the same time.

LULU ALPHEA

The American Jersey Cattle Club reports that Lulu Alphea, of Ashburn, a Jersey cow of extraordinary talents, has broken the world's record for producing an article of conspicuous domestic merit. According to reports, she contributed 13,000 pounds of milk to the world in the course of a year. From this milk, 1,000 pounds of butter were made, or about 100 pounds more than Lulu herself weighs.

What inspired Lulu to this wonderful performance is not made plain, though the cattle fancier will of course attribute it to her excellent patronage and the good care bestowed upon her. But perhaps the plight of the world moved her to show that she was not only noble by birth but also noble by her own right. Almost simultaneously with the announcement of her feat there came a dispatch stating that babies were being abandoned in New York because their parents could not afford to pay exorbitant prices for milk. The high prices are due to a shortage—they always are—somewhat aggravated by a get-rich-quick distributors and producers and $60-a-week milkmen. Lulu is referred to them as a wholesome example of honest public service.

Lulu's valiant efforts to reduce the cost of milk and butter are wholly commendable, but if her example is followed by many cows there will be trouble. Such production records must inevitably result in a generous supply, and that is likely, as in many food industries, to result in drastic methods of reducing the supply in order that the price may be maintained, the intention being to make a large profit on a small quantity. This seems to be the ambition of many people. Big wages for small efforts, big profits on a small turnover—they amount to the same thing. But there is some comfort in knowing that the bovine population is sticking to prudent standards.—The Indianapolis News.

—An Evangelist.

Into the general store of a village in Virginia there came one day not long ago a diminutive darky, who laid upon the counter a single egg, and said, "Boss, my mudder says, please give me two needles for dis aig."

The storekeeper smiled. "Why," he said, "you can get two needles for an egg."

"No, boss," continued the darky, "my mudder don't want no two needles; she says, please give me de change in cheese."—Harper's Magazine.

VALUE OF COUNTRY ROADS.

Good roads promote self-respect in a community. They make possible social intercourse. They bring the benefits of churches and schools within the reach of all. They help to keep the boys on the farm. They cheapen the cost of transportation of farm products to the markets and thus add to the farm profits. They add to the value of farm lands much more than they cost. They mark the degree of civilization of the rural community.—Waco Times-Herald.

CAM-HI ANNUAL NEWS.

The editor-in-chief and business manager of the Annual are working hard on the Annual and according to them this year's Annual will be the best one ever put out by the students of Cameron High School.

On last Monday the different classes were called to separate class meetings. The purpose of these meetings was to select a class beauty from each class and to see who was the most popular boy in the whole High School.

The result of the elections is as follows:

Senior, Miss Juanita Caldwell.
Junior, Miss Louise Denson.
Sophomore, Miss Bessie Wiley.
Freshman, Miss Mabel Aiken.

The most popular boy of Cam-Hi, Mr. Leland Denson from the Senior class.

The pictures of these beautiful young ladies and the popular young man will be printed in the Annual.

Last week the pictures of the Junior, Sophomore and Freshman classes were made. These are pictures for the Annual. At first the Juniors wanted to have their pictures taken separately but they later decided to have the picture taken of the whole class on the front steps of the school.

All the football boys brought their suits Thursday afternoon to have the football picture made. But when school turned out the weather would not allow the picture to be taken. So the boys will have to appear with their "togger" some other time.

THE DEMOSTHENIAN LITERARY SOCIETY.

On Monday night of December 15, the Demosthenian Literary Society met in regular session. The roll call found very few members absent. The minutes were then read and accepted, and old and new business was brought before the house and discussed.

A debate then followed. The subject for debate was "Resolved that five points, each quarter, should be given to every student that represents the school in the inter-scholastic league meet, both in Debating and Declamation." The affirmative was ably represented by Mr. Charley Frank Green and Mr. Frank Plaster, while the negative was represented by Mr. Eber Flinn and Mr. Eugene Matula. The debate was interesting and well fought, and the result was victory for the affirmative by a vote of two to one of the judges.

Following the debate was a talk by Mr. J. N. Crawford, which closed a successful and enthusiastic meeting.

GIRLS CLUB.

The Girls Club met in regular session on Thursday afternoon December 18, 1919. The meeting was called to order by the president, after which the minutes were read and approved. A report was given from each of the committees, and then the following Christmas program was rendered: "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks"—Velda Walker.

"Story of the Three Wise Men"—Book One of Ben Hur—Mildred Chambers.

"The Continued Story"—Maurine Messimer.

"Reading of the Letters to Santa Claus"—Each Member of Club.

"Distribution of Presents."

The club room was decorated with beautiful Christmas decorations, and in the front of the room was a lovely Christmas tree loaded down with presents. Each member of the club had brought a present for the poor children of the town and sitting beside the tree was a huge basket of presents for them. Santa could not be present but he had come by beforehand and had left a present for each member of the club and he had also remembered Mr. Kidd and Mr. Crawford.

Each member of the club had written a letter to Santa and judges were appointed to decide which was the best letter. Miss Sue Ida Smith was the lucky young lady and was presented with a handsomely decorated picture book.

After a report from the critic and the supervisor, the president announced that the next meeting would be held the ninth day of January 1920. The club then adjourned, each member wishing the other a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

C. L. C.

Thursday, December 18, the Current Literary Club met to carry out its Christmas program. While the tree was being arranged several members went in cars after the children who were to enjoy it.

The first number was the reading of the minutes by the secretary. Next, "The Night Before Christmas," by Miss Mabel Akin. When that had been finished a jolly "Santy" entered with a basket of toys for the good little boys and girls that were assembled. The gifts were donated by the members and were given out by Santa Clause, and consisted of tin wagons, rubber balls, books, dolls, toy guns, marbles and stockings filled with candy, nuts and fruit.

After the gifts had been distributed, "The Night After Christmas" was recited by Miss Mary Young.

The meeting then adjourned and the happy participants were taken home with full arms.

DEMOSTHENIANS CHALLENGE GIRLS CLUB

The Demosthenian Literary Society, composed of the boys of the High school has challenged the Girls Club to a joint debate, the debate to be held at a time agreeable to both sides. The Girls Club has accepted the challenge and some time in the near future this debate will be held. The first of last week Mr. Kidd made a talk to the Study Hall in which he encouraged the work done by the various clubs of Cam-Hi.

THE CAMERON HIGH SCHOOL BAND.

On Sunday afternoon, the Cameron High School Concert band gave a sacred concert in the high school auditorium.

A program of sacred and classical music was rendered in the usual way in which this band plays. We are proud of our band and are always willing to give it a boost. The band is improving and by the time for the summer concerts the band will be one of the best in the state.

A free offering was taken to help pay out the balance on some bass instruments and drums. A neat sum was handed in by the girls taking the collection, and we are asked to especially thank the girls for their kindness in helping the boys.

We understand that more concerts will be given during the year.

WEEKLY EXPLOSIVES

Furthermore, we wish to state that there is a growing anxiety among the members of the Junior class. They fear the Seniors will not make good the promise for a party.

The Cam-Hi Widow's grief is lessened by the approaching leap year.

Mr. Solomon says that he hasn't decided which is going to win in the oncoming debate between the Boys Club and the Girls Club.

We wish to announce that Mr. Leon Collins, a member of the Juniors, has blossomed forth in long pants.

PERSONALS

Mr. Joyce Cox, Editor-in-Chief of Cam-Hi Weekly, has gone to Nashville, Tenn., to visit relatives.

All of the teachers of Cam-Hi will visit in their various homes during the holidays.

BASKETBALL NEWS

The Juniors and Seniors have each won three games and lost one. The tie will be played off next week. The Fish have one record of playing three games and losing only three. Hooray for the Freshmen.

PASSING OF THE POOL HALLS

The legal wrangle may continue for awhile longer, but the pool hall in Texas is doomed, and the operators who are keeping their places open despite the latest Federal court decision are but postponing the day of the funeral. The business has passed to the great beyond.

The time-honored chatter about personal and inalienable rights naturally arises in such a matter as closing up a lucrative trade in anything, but the fact remains that when any business degenerates into a nuisance and public sentiment demands that it be abated, the owner of that business may as well seek a new occupation.

The pool hall follows the saloon into the discard because it has become a nuisance only a little less dangerous than the saloon itself.

A gathering place for idlers, vagrants, gamblers and loafers generally it was a community sore spot wherever found to be operated as a place open to all comers.

It attracted young men during their leisure hours, and the fascination of the games tended to draw them away from their pursuits and wholesome recreations and pleasures, and to make confirmed loafers of them. Worse than that, many such places were schools of instruction in clandestine gambling and turned out their graduates by the score each year.

And after the saloons closed, the element that frequented the lowest liquor dives took up their abode in the pool hall of the same character, where bootleggers found a rendezvous and a market.

At a time when every ounce of manhood and character is needed by young men to bring the country back to a stable economic, moral and political basis, any institution operating to create idleness and stimulate law-breaking should not be tolerated.

The people of Texas through their representatives outlawed the pool hall because they knew it exerted an influence largely evil, and there is little doubt but that their will in the matter will eventually be carried out.

When the halls finally close, there will likely be a sudden increase in the visible supply of labor in Texas cities.—Houston Post.

PAPER PROFITS.

In the height of the mining boom 12 years ago there were nearly 150 millionaires in Nevada on paper. Three months later the definition of a Nevada millionaire was "a man with an automobile and an overdraft." Their profits were in paper and they could not get them out.

Their books showed millions made in stocks, but when the panic of 1907 hit the country, when the miners of Goldfield went on strike, those stocks—most of them—were not worth the paper they were written on. Their owners could not sell them.

Now another period of prosperity is swinging around to this country. Through thrift and self-sacrifice during the war, the workers of America have ready money. Fraudulent promoters know this and the country is being flooded with wildcat stocks. They promise enormous profits but they pay no money.

These confidence men will try to induce you to exchange your Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps for these pieces of paper. If you do so, you will give your money to buy luxuries for a thief.

War Savings and Thrift Stamps are the best investments in the world. When you put your money into those securities you can get it out, all of it, with interest, and you can get it when you need it. No stock market thimble-rigging can influence their value and when you buy War Savings Stamps, nobody knows the size of your bank roll but you.

CAMERON ON THE INTERURBAN

Commercial Club Held Live Wire
Meeting Friday Evening, Discussing Progress.

An enthusiastic and well attended meeting of the directors of the Cameron Commercial club was held in this city last night. Matters of importance to the growth of Cameron were brought up and discussed. One feature of the meeting was the discussion of the Waco-Temple interurban a branch of which Cameron is going to have when the line is built. This subject was brought up by a member of the board and it was found that the members were just as enthusiastic as ever; nevertheless a discussion of same has not been had for three weeks. Every member of the board present declared himself as squarely behind the project as ever and urged that the enterprise be taken up again and agitated.

County Judge W. G. Gillis reported that he in company with County Engineer A. S. Mitchell had visited Austin the first of the week and had succeeded in getting an additional appropriation from the State highway commission on the Branchville road that is being built. The original appropriation was $25,000 and the amount procured Monday was an additional $15,000. This is a very important road in Central Texas; it will fill up a gap between the two state highways. The connecting road leading from the Dallas-San Antonio road to the Waco-Houston road, it will run through Milam county and Cameron. Another important matter put over by the Milam county officials at Austin was the procuring of $14,000 of the Sap highway appropriation for helping to build the Ben Arnold road. This is a section of the Sap highway designated at a meeting in Cameron last summer. The highway runs from Waco to Giddings and the Ben Arnold strip is the first to get state aid. The entire appropriation in Milam county being $125,000, Judge Gillis reported that four government trucks were ready for use in Milam county and would be brought over as soon as the roads would permit. The allotment is six trucks.

After the meeting of the directors Friday night Ross Smith, who conducts a market and restaurant in this city, invited the 30 members who attended the meeting over to his place of business and served them with delightful venison stew. The evening was most enjoyable and the treat came as a complete surprise to the Commercial club members.

The meeting Friday night was one of the most enthusiastic held in several weeks; interest was intense and with the live wires heading the new projects for Cameron she is bound to grow.

SAN GABRIEL NEWS

With our year as a representative to the Egyptian palm, December matures the twelfth branch and naturally reminds us that ere soon 'tis Xmas. Christmas is Christianity's great festival day. Forged from the most beautiful tradition of humanity, as well as from elements of the Divine, and echoing to eternal voices of that angel choir which sang so many centuries ago above the night-robed hills of Bethlehem. We willingly pause in our headlong rush for material success to listen; and listening, we glow from the piety thus transmitted thru the centuries. It comes drifting down to us from out the misty past with its fairy tales, its pleasant surprises and its atmosphere of resistless joy along with its spirit of peace and good will. A day closely woven into our lives with memories so rich in beautiful and colorful reflections. Christmas Day! Keep it holy! Keep it as a sacred thing! It was bequeathed to us by all that was best in the past and stands for all that is best in the present; and it has been handed down to us by our fathers—let us hand it down to our children, helping to kindle one spark of hope in the sordid life! Surely, this day with its giving and

CONGRESS ADJOURN- ED FOR HOLIDAYS

Will Resume Legislative Duties in Two Weeks—Hard Tasks Ahead.

Congress adjourned for a holiday recess of two weeks Saturday night. It will return to duty Jan. 5.

The house will begin work on the annual appropriation bills immediately after recess. These total more than four billion dollars and must be materially reduced.

The task of passing the fourteen appropriation measures will occupy the house well into the first month of next year.

The senate will return to resume efforts to reach a compromise on the peace treaty. It will take up water power legislation early in the new year and following that, it is expected, bills to regulate the packing industry will be disposed of.

In both houses an early start is hoped for on legislation reorganizing the army on peace basis.

The senate commerce committee will begin hearings Jan. 5, to frame a permanent policy for the American merchant marine. Conferees on the house and senate railroad bills will work through the holidays.

receiving of gifts and dedicated to that Savior who gave the greatest possible gift, draws us closer together as a family, as a nation and as a race.

Let the tree be an emblem of rejoicing, good will and pleasant passing of the year; an unsparable feature of Xmas festivities; a token that is a part of ourselves and symbolizes a love that is strong enough to derive pleasure out of making gifts and being able to give.

Toys may seem meaningless and effective only as giving pleasure to children, and yet, to busy ourselves thusly, it somehow draws us nearer to the purity and innocence of the child life.

In this spirit San Gabriel is making preparations to entertain the little folks with a Xmas tree Christmas eve night.

WAR MATERIAL IS SOLD IN EUROPE

America Realizes About One-Half Price for Articles—Sum Totals $700,000,000

A total of $700,000,000 was realized by the sale of America's war material in England, France, Belgium, Italy and Germany, Edwin B. Parker of Houston, Tex., chairman of the United States liquidation commission, stated today on his arrival from Europe with five other members of the commission on the transport Powhattan. He said the commission also cleaned up claims due and against the United States for as much more. Its report will be ready in a few days.

Mr. Parker asserted that while it had taken the commission only ten months to dispose of all this country's war stocks abroad, the other allied countries had not yet been able to make an inventory. He denied that motor trucks had been "left to go by the boards," declaring that all motor transport material sold by the commission had been used and that some of it was worn out.

Trucks in Germany were sold to a syndicate for $15,000,000, he said, and a British syndicate bought automobiles for $1,000,000. All American war material was sold in France for $400,000,000. He asserted the articles were sold for more than fifty percent of what they cost.

Much of the material was junk and was more of a liability than an asset, according to Mr. Parker, and as ships were not available it could not be brought home. He said the material would have brought less in America than in Europe.

LIGHT AND POWER SERVICE IMPROVED

Trouble Saturday Night Caused Anxiety for Few Hours—A. W.
Luckett on the Job.

When the dynamo being used at the Cameron Water Power and Light Company's plant was switched from the light service to the water service Saturday night, the starter for the motors was put out of commission.

The ice engine has been put to good service since the arrival of the dynamo several days ago. By the use of same enough power has been available to either pump water or to furnish lights in the business district, this plan was followed by lights being turned on from 5:30 in the afternoon until 8:00 o'clock and two nights until 9:30 and 10 o'clock. The water service being available during the entire day, except with occasional interruptions, this feature being followed in order for the gins and the oil mill to continue operation.

The trouble Saturday night caused considerable worry for the officials of this company, a serious situation confronted them and up until 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon little or no progress was made to get relief and the water supply had to be cut off.

A. W. Luckett, who is undoubtedly an electrical genius, his work in this case proving this fact beyond a doubt, was called by the officials and the electrical equipment turned over to him. At 9 o'clock Sunday night every obstacle had been removed and the water pumps were started. Little did the officials of the company know what was in the dynamo until Mr. Luckett took hold of same. Monday night lights were turned on all over the city and the water supply is rapidly being replenished.

A Warning.

Manager Lawrence and Mr. Luckett have asked that everybody use as sparingly of the lights as possible. If one family persists in burning all the lights because they think the other fellow is cutting down, you are going to cause everybody to be in darkness again and without water. Mr. Luckett announces that the machine will carry just so much and if a heavier load is put on same it will be done by the people, and the service will be curtailed again. Not only are you asked to save "juice" but to save water.

Some Relief.

The announcement was made Tuesday that parts for the steam engine that had to be made in other cities were beginning to arrive and that it was possible by the first of January to restore power to almost a normal basis, that is for the public use, the dynamo now in operation will be used for water service and the other engine for power.

BLACK-HERNDON.

Miss Mattie Herndon of Rosebud and Mr. Edgar Black of Jones Prairie were married last Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock in this city at the home of the bride's uncle, T. A. Howell, Rev. J. C. McClung, pastor of the Jones Prairie Baptist church officiating. The happy couple left immediately after the ceremony for Jones Prairie to spend the holidays in the home of the groom's parents. They will be in their own home after Jan. 1st.

We join their many friends in wishing them happiness and success in life.

BAPTIST CHURCH SERVICES

Usual services at Baptist church next Sunday. The pastor will speak at both services.

The public is cordially invited to all these services.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Folmer of Gause were visiting in Cameron Tuesday.

SANITARY WATER SUPPLY IS OBJECT

State Health Officer C. W. Goddard
Will Give School For Operators.

Austin, Texas, December 14.—The date for the school for water and filter plant operators of the State that will be given at the University of Texas at the request of the State Board of Health has been announced as February second to fourteenth, inclusive. The work will include illustrated lectures, laboratory work, microscopic work and visits and examination of water supplies and plants. The course will eliminate the usual technical details only essential with which water plant operators deal being given in the simplest manner of presentation. Experiments will be given showing how turbid water may be easily and instantly clarified, how taste and color may be removed, how micro-organisms may be suppressed and eliminated, how hard waters may be softened, and how the death rate of Texas may be lowered by means of intelligent operation.

Each town interested in securing a more sanitary water supply is being urged by the State Board of Health to send one man to take the course, the only expense to the city being the cost of transportation to and from Austin, and board and lodging while in attendance. The course for nurses that will begin at the university January 4, will include part of this work for filter plant operators in order that the nurses as they are installed in various sections of the State will fully understand the relation of the sanitary quality of the water to the public health.

It is the opinion of Dr. C. W. Goddard, State Health Officer, that if every town in the State had a trained man, who is competent to pass on the sanitary conditions of the water his plant furnishes, that many water-borne epidemics that occur throughout the State from time to time would be prevented and it was with this idea in mind that the State Board of Health asked the University to give this course of instruction.

Subjects that will be treated in this school are: "Chemistry of Water," "Bacteriology and Microscopy of Water," "Economic Transmission of Water," "Chlorination of Water," "Protection of Water Supplies," "Scientific Operation of Water Plants," and "Legal Responsibility of Water Companies." The teaching staff for the school will include one of the most prominent water engineers of the South, experts from both the University faculty and the State Board of Health.

DOCTORS EXPERIMENTING ON THEMSELVES

A dispatch to the New York Times from St. Paul says:

To prove his theory that germs do not cause disease, Dr. H. A. Zettel, electrophysicist, of St. Paul, has challenged Dr. H. W. Hill, executive officer of the Minnesota Public Health Association, to a duel to the death with germs. Dr. Hill accepted the challenge and the two will expose themselves to the most virulent of contagious diseases, including typhoid, smallpox, and bubonic plague.

Dr. Zettel will use in his defense against the germs only sanitation, pure air, and sanitary food and drink. Dr. Hill will expose himself after scientific inoculation and vaccination.

Outside of their families we doubt if anyone will object to any more experimentation these doctors may want to practice on themselves.

WILL TRY GERMAN CUPRITS IN 1920

Huns Accused of Crimes During War Must Answer to Charges

Paris, Dec. 21.—The trials of persons accused of war crimes will be held in Paris and at Lille in 1920. The court martial at Lille has issued numerous warrants against German officers and soldiers, and a captain and four lieutenants have been imprisoned in the fort at Lille.

A Brussels dispatch says that it has authentic information that Holland is declared to have stated officially that she will not deliver up former Emperor William for trial.

Paris, Dec. 21.—Under Secretary of State for Military Justice Inace left for London today to take part in compiling a list of Germans charged with war crimes, and whose delivery to the entente will be demanded. A conference will be held this week in London to outline joint action by Great Britain, France and Belgium.

France, according to the Echo de Paris, has a list of 500 names ready to submit. Among these names is that of one of the former German emperor's sons, and also that of former Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria and several generals and commanders of prison camps in Germany.

According to this newspaper, about 1,500 persons will be arraigned before military tribunals of each of the three nations or by mixed tribunals.

The case of former Emperor William will be dealt with separately from the London conference.

Geneva, Dec. 20.—A dispatch from Basel states the former German emperor has agreed to accept trial by the allies, but wants to choose the place and time of trial and desires to be defended by German experts. The Basel advices say the former crown prince declares he will never appear if called before a court.

The Hague, Dec. 18.—Long inclined to believe the allies would not make a serious demand for the extradition Dutch government now expects such a demand will be made, the Associated Press was officially informed today. "We suppose the demand will come before long and that several powers probably will address a joint letter to Holland setting forth the case," the official said.

"Our feeling is that the very men who sign the demand probably will be hoping all the time that we will refuse. This demand will put a small nation in a difficult position, which seems to us, not at all just."

So far as the Associated Press is able to learn, Holland will probably stick to her original intention to refuse a demand for extradition of the former emperor. There is rowing feeling in some Dutch circles that the former monarch himself could end the difficulty in which he placed Holland, if he chose to show himself grateful for a year's sanctuary.

"He could end this whole difficulty, so far as Holland is concerned," the official said, "by voluntarily returning to Germany. German press dispatches indicate the German inquiry commission would like to interrogate him. However, from what we can learn, the former kaiser is not likely to do anything like that. He is not afraid to return, but his mind does not run that way. It is against his ideas to appear before any inquiry commission as he still considers himself responsible for nothing wrong."

TEACHERS' EXAMINATION

PREVENTING THE GROWTH OF HORNS

We have always advocated preventing the growth of horns on calves by the use of caustic potash; that is, where one wishes hornless cattle, or to prevent the possibility of someone's later dehorning them. Moistened the spot on the calf's head where the beginning of the horn is felt, and then rub lightly, till red, with the caustic potash, not breaking the skin. We have often done this, and never observed anything like suffering on the calf's part except a slight shaking of the head for a very few minutes. It should be done before the calf is two weeks old. The younger the better. The following in this connection is worth knowing: The pain from the use of caustic potash yields quickly to the application of water, a fact by no means known even by all veterinarians. We fancy that generally the spot is rubbed too hard with the potash.—Our Dumb Animals

THE CHRISTMAS TREE

I love to think of the Christmas tree Of the long, long time ago, Trimmed with its wonderful ornaments That were made by hand so slow— Toe paper chains, so colored and fine, And the angels with golden wings, The gingerbread men and the cotton dolls, And the old-time home-made things!

There were no gaudy and tinsel strands, No glowing globes of light, In those days of the simple Christmas joys, But the old-time tree was bright! An angel made of a paper heet Swung high in the topmost bough And, oh, there was something fine and sweet In the homely things, somehow!

Around the base there were farm yard scenes, All whittled with patient care, And fitted in with a loving wish And many a whispered prayer; And the children laughed and the children leaped When they marched downstairs at morn— And I hear, I hear that music still Of the drum and the wee tin horn! —F. McKinsey in Baltimore Sun.

LEMONS WHITEN AND BEAUTIFY THE SKIN

Make This Beauty Lotion Cheaply For Your Face, Neck, Arms and Hands.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quart pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

BETTER THAN NOTHING

The moonlight shone on the lonely house on the hill, where all was peacefully hushed in sleep.

A dark form sat in the shadow of the hedge. Suddenly he moved as a soft whistle heralded someone's approach.

"That you mate?" he whispered hoarsely, as a stealthy figure approached in the darkness. "Yus," came the answer. "What yer doin' with that dorg?" he muttered, as his burglar pal approached.

"Well," answered his confederate, "there's nothing worth taking in the 'ouse and it's bad luck to come away empty-handed, so I brought along the watchdog and these burglar alarms."

PROMINENT MERCHANT FOUND LASTING RELIEF

In a South Carolina county seat a prominent merchant suffered for years with eczema. Money was not a consideration if he could only be relieved from the terrible itching, burning, and irritation. He scratched his back at nights until it bled, but the soreness only became worse. He visited Western Springs, and consulted various physicians, but never found a permanent cure until a friend brought Zemerine to his notice. He tried this great treatment, and now sings its praises highly. Zemerine is a wonderful treatment for diseased skin, especially eczema, tetter, rash, itch, and similar disorders. It is sold upon the fairest basis imaginable—your money will be returned if it does not help you after a fair trial. ## RATS AND MICE.

Those who are pestered with mice and rats would do well to send for Farmers' Bulletin 896 by David E. Lantz, assistant biologist of the department. The conclusions given here will doubtless be worth much to those who make use of them.

The measures for repressing and eliminating rats and mice include the following:

The requirement that all new buildings erected shall be made rat-proof under competent inspection.

That all existing rat-proof buildings shall be closed against rats and mice by having all openings accessible to the animals, from foundation to roof, closed or screened by door, window, grating, or meshed wire netting.

That all buildings not of rat-proof construction shall be made so by remodeling, by the use of materials that may not be used by rats, or by elevation.

The protection of our native hawks, owls, and smaller predatory animals—the natural enemies of rats.

Greater cleanliness about markets, grocery stores, warehouses, courts, alleys—stables, and vacant lots in cities and villages, and like care on farms and suburban premises. This includes the storage of waste and garbage in tightly covered vessels and the prompt disposal of it each day.

Care in the construction of drains and sewers, so as not to provide entrance and retreat for rats. Old brick sewers in cities should be replaced by concrete or tile.

The early threshing and marketing of grains on farms, so that stacks and mows shall not furnish harborage and food for rats.

Removal of outlying straw stacks and piles of trash or lumber that harbor rats in fields and vacant lots.

The keeping of provisions, seed grain, and foodstuffs in rat-proof containers.

Keeping effective rat dogs, especial-

HEROIC CHOCTAW IS CHOSEN AS MODEL AMERICAN SOLDIER

Washington, Dec. 17.—Otis W. Leader, a Choctaw Indian of Calvin, Okla., who was with the artillery force which fired the first American shots in the world war has been selected as a model by the French artist, Dewareux, for a portrait of a typical American soldier.

Leader, who trained with the famous Blue Devils when he went to France, was almost continuously under fire having engaged in the major operations at Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel and Argonne. At Chateau Thierry he was cited for fighting with the infantry for three days after the entire gun crew to which he had been attached, had been killed. During the engagement he succeeded in capturing two machine guns and thirteen prisoners.

Leader now is taking vocational training under the direction of the federal board and still is under treatment for mustard gas burns.

YOUR COUNTY NEWSPAPER

All through the southwest—in almost every well populated county—are small local newspapers fulfilling admirably their important mission. Filled with the local news of the different communities, they are truthful and interesting chronicles of the lives of the people, their sorrows, their joys, their misfortunes, their progress. From week to week they tell of the planting and condition of crops, of harvest, of market conditions. Their columns are open to fair-minded discussions by the public on matters of general interest, and they are always in the lead in any progressive undertaking. However harsh and unnecessary sometimes may seem their criticism in their zeal for a cause, however impracticable sometimes may be their prophecies and forecasts, we must admit that nearly always they are honest and their purpose is the furthering of the public weal.

By the very nature of its position the county newspaper cannot be considered a purely private enterprise. It is essentially a public institution, and as such deserves and must have the support of the people among whom it circulates. If no one else in your neighborhood is sending its news in to your county paper, it is your duty to do it. Every week or two write for it a breezy truthful, sensible chronicle of the happenings in your community. When you are in town, call on the editor and talk with him about your work and his. When you hear the paper unjustly criticised, defend it warmly; when you find a home that does not receive it, commend it freely.

The man who does not support his county paper has no right to criticize it, either as to news or moral or general tone. Get yourself intimate with it and its editor, show him what you are doing on your farm, and what you would like to see done, or not done, in your community and county. When you have thus made your interests his, and his yours, then insist on his making and keeping your paper and his a clean, moral sheet and in every way the great influence for good that it should be.

Our newspapers, like our schools, and churches, are just what we want them and make them by our interested support, or lack of it.—O. C. Payne in Farm and Ranch.

Health About Gone

Many thousands of women suffering from womanly trouble, have been benefited by the use of Cardui, the woman's tonic, according to letters we receive similar to this one from Mrs. Z. V. Spell, of Hayne, N. C. "I could not stand on my feet, and just suffered terribly," she says. "As my suffering was so great, and he had tried other remedies, Dr. — had us get Cardui. . . I began improving, and it cured me. I know, and my doctor knows, what Cardui did for me, for my nerves and health were about gone."

CARDUI The Woman's Tonic

She writes further: "I am in splendid health . . . can do my work. I feel I owe it to Cardui, for I was in dreadful condition." If you are nervous, run-down and weak, or suffer from headache, backache, etc., every month, try Cardui. Thousands of women praise this medicine for the good it has done them, and many physicians who have used Cardui successfully with their women patients, for years, endorse this medicine. Think what it means to be in splendid health, like Mrs. Spell. Give Cardui a trial.

WHAT CAN BE DONE IN ONE DAY

Every day is such a usual occurrence that its true significance does not come home to us. We get so used to our days that we are blind to their universal possibilities.

In the beginning one-sixth of the whole world was made in a day, yet how many of us feel that we can do one-sixth, or even the hundredth of all the things we ought to do in one day.

Within one day the battle of Waterloo and the battle of the Marne were both won. There was a day when you were born and a day when you will die. How about the days between? A man can change the fortune of the entire life in a day. Upon all the decisions which lie within a single day are the possibilities of a lifetime. The idleness of one day leads to the habit of idleness in all the days thereafter. What we can do in one day determines quite largely what we do in all days.

Every day should be complete in itself, a gem of reality taken from the cluster of eternity. Every day should have its vacation period. Men break down because they crowd out the vacation from each day and then think they can make it up by devoting a fixed number of days to this object. Suppose the heart should go on this principle and beat twice as hard nineteen-twentieths of the time and then try to stop completely for one-twentieth?

Every day is entitled to the privilege of making every one of us a wholesome, well-rounded human being. We must not fight off our days from their privilege. We must give them a chance.

Why wait for another day to do something? If that something is worth doing, put it somewhere into today, or the probability is that you will never do it at all. Don't think necessarily that you must give that something a front box or let it take up most of the space there is. Tell it frankly that you want it inside of your day and that you will make a place for it somewhere, even if it isn't the best place. Thus the highest moment you have, the flash of divine inspiration, the holy thought, the message of love, will never be crowded out of your day. Out of your day will come all good things.—Woman's Home Companion.

ONWARD MARCH OF THE FILIPINO WOMEN

It is practically certain that the vote. Present indications are that Filipino woman will soon have the she will even beat her American sisters to the ballot box. An equal suffrage bill giving women full political rights with men was passed by a Philippine senate and sent to the branch of the Philippine legislature on the question of woman's suffrage is believed to be about the same as in the senate. A Manila correspondent says the Filipino woman is by custom the dictator in the home. She is usually the keeper of the family treasury. All revenue, no matter by whom earned is turned over to the wife and mother and she it is who has the final say as to how it is to be spent. Filipino women are now occupying positions in the bureau of education and the University of the Philippines. There have been established over fifty woman's clubs in the Philippines, engaged in social settlement work, improvement of health conditions and the prevention of infant mortality. Doors of each of the several colleges of the University of the Philippines stand open and she passes in side by side with her brother. Practically all the small shops in Manila are conducted by the women and women own the best paying iron mines in the islands. Philippine independence is coming in the near future.

A THOUGHT OF THE WEEK

The earth pays for what it gets—the rain and the sunshine and the breezes of heaven—with fruitfulness, waving grain, buds and blossoms and fruits, and the smiling green of fields. It isn't a mere sponge, receiving always and never responding to the giver. It gives back everything with an added something of its own. The earth is honest, generously honest. And a man ought not to be any less so. He is getting every day and hour and moment of his life, getting from all sides and in all possible ways. From the God who rules his life down to the little child who meets him on the street everyone gives him something. If he is going to be as honest as the earth is, he will have to be busy all the time paying his debts, giving back what he gets so freely and generously to everyone he can, and in all ways that he can. If he doesn't he is something of a sponge, instead of a man.—Progressive Farmer.

FORTY-TWO PARTY

One of the prettiest parties ever given in Cameron was the Forty-two Club meeting with Mrs. B. P. Atkinson Thursday afternoon. Outside everything was miserably cold and rainy, but the house all was delightfully warm, bright and cozy. Holly and poinsettias were used profusely in decorating, and tally cards and score pads for the six tables were in holly design. Xmas stars of gold marked successful games and eighty-four favors were tiny Xmas bells, Xmas trees, snow men, and Santa Claus. At the conclusion of the games a candle glowing under a lovely red shade was placed in the center of each table, and through the house the cheerful glow from red and green candles gave a Xmas atmosphere to the festive scene. Most delicious two-course refreshments were daintily served by Misses Louise Kathrine, Florence, and Mary Virginia Atkinson, and consisted of creamed chicken in patties, pimento salad, hot rolls, stuffed celery, olives and individual plum pudding and lard cider.

Sprays of holly tied with red ribbons made appropriate plate favors.

Those enjoying Mrs. Atkinson's hospitality other than club members were: Mesdames W. O. Triggs, N. H. Lutts, Hubert Atkinson, Andrew Freeman, J. L. Clinton, U. S. Hearrell, B. Slocumb, J. M. Ralston, R. D. Brown; Misses Beth Jeter, Mary McLane, Lillian Atkinson and Winnie Henderson.

GIRLS CLUB

Thursday afternoon at the Girls Club meeting the following program was rendered:

1. A Xmas Reading—Velda Walker
2. A story of the Tree Wise Men—Mildred Chambers.
3. Girls Club Continued Story—Maurine Messimer.

This interesting program was followed by a Xmas tree, beautifully dressed with tinsel, candles, and gifts for the members of the club. Many of the gifts were "sells" and these furnished much merriment. The girls club is a wide-awake organization, composed of the Junior and Senior girls of the Cameron High School, and Miss Bass has made them a most excellent sponsor this year. The Xmas celebration was just one more of the many nice affairs the club has enjoyed during this session.

Ivar Skougard, of Baylor University, spent Sunday in Cameron.

COLLEGE GIRLS AND BOYS.

Cameron is taking on a gayety since the arrival in the city of so many of the girls and boys from college. The following young folks are home from school for the holidays.

From the University of Texas: Misses Emma Atkinson, Katy McCall, Agnes Dusek and Messrs. Knox Tyson, Price Cross, George Hefley, Elliott Atkinson, Moulton Cobb, J. and Hilton Howell. From the medical branch of the University, Edward Shaw.

From A. and M. College: Clifton Rogers, Charlie Nabours, L. J. Epperson, Vernon Roberts, George Clement, Fontaine Flinn, Cecil Barmore, Ben Baskin, and Fred Meyers.

From Baylor University: Misses Louise Green, Ruth Coleman, Mabel Jeter, Sue Harlan, Nadeen Bragg, and Messrs. Mike and Jim Coleman.

From Southern Methodist University: Misses Gladys Watson, Louise Gillon and Reba Cheeves.

From Southwestern University: Misses Irene Cheeves, Anna Lou Baskin, Maurine House and Messrs. Claude Triggs, Nat Wafford and Jack and Walter Adams.

From College of Industrial Arts: Miss Motie Cass.

From Dallas Kinderarten: Miss Sallie Kate McLane.

From Castle Heights, Tenn: Jack Vest and Drayton McLane.

DANCE AT LEGION HALL

The regular Friday night dance at Legion Hall took on an extra note of gayety from the fact that the dancers appeared in masks, clowns, fairies, Colonial ladies, wild west boys, and Gypsies, met as friends and danced together. There was much surprise when the masks were removed. One of the belles of the ball, an erstwhile school girl in prim Hoffman Suit, turned out to be a young gentleman of the town. The affair had all the air of a New Orleans Mardi Gras, and the young people enjoyed it accordingly.

The Avrietts had a family gathering dinner party, and Xmas tree at Mrs. Ida Avriett's Sunday. With Mrs. Avriett were: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rogers and three children, Mr. and Mrs. Giles Avriett and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McDermott and little daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Triggs, Miss Myrtle Avriett, and Mr. Rupert Harkrider of Abilene.

XMAS SERVICES IN THE CHURCHES

For the Xmas sermon at the Methodist Church Sunday morning there was a program of special music. Mr. Robert Smith, Organist, played the piano selections, and there were solos by Mesdames J. L. Clinton and Alex Triggs of Rosebud. The choir sang "Joy to the World," and "O, Little Town of Bethlehem."

Sunday night Rev. Key preached a special Xmas sermon, which was in the form of an illustrated lecture. Choruses of soldiers and Red Cross nurses and a choir of children assisted Rev. Key with the service. Miss Jewel Joslin told the story of the Red Cross, Miss Ruth Rosemary Kemp gave a Xmas reading and there were special solos by Miss Eloise Rogers and little Misses Key and Caroline Cheeves. After the service Rev. Key gave the children a treat of apples and oranges.

The children of the Presbyterian Sunday School had a special Xmas service at the church Sunday night which followed the program set in their Xmas Vision. The little folks marched by classes and placed gifts into a basket for orphan children. The feature of the evening was a nightie drill and song by the beginners, who carried to the basket tiny socks filled with pennies. The entire program was rendered by the church and was splendidly executed and greatly enjoyed.

Instead of the regular sermon at the Baptist Church Sunday night, a musical program was rendered. There were eighteen numbers, consisting of solos, hymns and anthems. Mr. Robert Smith at the piano and Miss Ruth Sprinkel at the organ gave two very beautiful selections. It is to be hoped that Cameron will have many more such musical treats.

JUNIOR B. Y. P. U. PARTY.

Miss Winnie Henderson, leader of the Junior Baptist Young Peoples' Union, entertained the members of the Union with a Christmas party at the church Friday night. There was a program consisting of Xmas readings and songs. On a Xmas tree, presided over by a Santa Claus, the children placed gifts which will be sent to the Buckner Orphans. Refreshments of punch, cake, and candy were served. Miss Olive McGehee assisted Miss Henderson with her entertaining.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Triggs had a family dinner party at their home Friday night in honor of Mrs. W. H. Triggs' birthday. The party came as a complete surprise to Mrs. Triggs who was made happy by having all of her children and grand children seated at the table with her on this occasion. At the table were: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Triggs, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Triggs and sons, George Wm. Albert and Monta, Mrs. Howard Baskin and children, Clyde, William and Lena Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Triggs and little son, Bill Alex, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Triggs, and Mr. Claude Triggs.

C. L. C.

The C. L. C., otherwise known as the Cameron Literary Club, and composed of the girls of the Freshman and Sophomore classes, had a Xmas tree at the School House Thursday afternoon. This was a "gift tree," and was loaded with presents which the members of the C. L. C. will send to girls and boys not so fortunate as themselves.

Cameron Girls have been busy this fall in various parts of the state helping to teach the young idea how to shoot. Now that the Xmas holidays are here, however, we are glad to welcome them home from their schools. Among those who have returned are: Misses Esther Fielder of Friendship; Janet Pardo of Cyclone; Naomi Pardo of Troy; Sue Shaw of Karnes City; Dora Shaw of New Salem; Maude McGehee of Minerva; Mary Burns of Eagle Lake; Ruth Wilcox of San Antonio; Grace Gillon of Bellville; Lorena Ruby of Burlington; Virginia Vest of Crosbyton; Katharine Henderson of Uvalde; Lucille Hooks of Buckholts, and Mabel Favers of Rice.

Mrs. Whitliff and son of Waco, are Christmas guests of the McDermotts.

ON CHRISTMAS NIGHT

Seems to me the stars shine brighter Christmas night;
Seems to me the snow lies whiter Christmas night;
That the solemn trees stand straighter,
And the frosty moon sets later,
And the hush is stiller, greater,
Christmas night.

Seems to me sad things are fewer Christmas night;
Seems to me glad things are truer Christmas night;
Seems to me the bells ring clearer From their steeples, louder, nearer—
Seems to me the bells ring clearer Christmas night!

CANSTANT CHRISTMAS

O never-failing splendor!
O never-silent song!
Still keep the green earth tender,
Still keep the grey earth strong.

Still keep the brave earth dreaming
Of deeds that shall be done,
While children's lives come streaming
Like sunbeams from the sun.

O angels, sweet and splendid,
Throng in our hearts and sing
The wonders which attended
The coming of the King.

Till we, too, bodily pressing
Where once the shepherds trod,
Climb Bethlehem's hill of blessing,
And find the Son of God!

CHRISTMAS STORIES.

Third Day of Creation.

God made the waters to collect into oceans, seas, bays, lakes, etc., and dry land to appear which He named Earth. Then God told the Earth to bring forth trees, vines and bushes to blossom and fruit, grasses and flowers.—Oh! how pretty the Earth must have looked!

Fourth Day of Creation.

God created the Sun, the moon and stars before creating the earth, but heavy mists or fogs hung over the earth so they could not be seen; on the fourth day God had the fogs to pass away and Mother Earth felt the bright warm rays of sunshine which make the atmosphere warm and healthy for plants and animals and people and helps them to grow strong. If the sun should quit sending his warm rays to the earth, everybody would freeze to death, so would all the animals, the pretty birds and beautiful flowers and plants, and the fruits we love to eat, the rivers and lakes would turn to ice and freeze all the fishes.

Aren't you glad God made a great big world of fire, which we call sun, to keep our mother earth warm?

God made the sun to rule, therefore, all the big planets go round and round the sun and that makes our seasons. Spring, summer, fall or autumn, winter, and because the sun shines so much brighter than all the other planets he is often called the King of Day. The earth is shaped like a great big orange and turns over once every twenty-four hours. When the earth is turned so the sunlight falls near us we call it day, and when the earth is turned so the sun light does not fall near us, we call it night, the best time for sleep and rest. God wants us to pray and bid everything good-night and go to bed.

While you little tots are kissing your mama and papa good-night and slipping on your nighties, the little people in Japan and China are rubbing open their sleepy eyes and peeping at the beautiful sunrise. Sometimes night comes and the sun changes the floating clouds to many colors, mostly crimson and gold and then hides behind the horizon, where the earth and clouds seem to meet, you know, 'tis twilight and then out peeps a twinkling star, here and there, until the whole canopy of heaven is twinkling and winking at you and then first thing you know up comes the silver moon in all her splendor. God made the moon to go around our earth and that's why sometimes it is so dark and sometimes so beautiful and bright and because the moon is so much brighter than the stars she is called the queen of night. At times when the moon is not shining for us and no clouds hide the heavens, the stars twinkle and glow and try to tell us God is still watching over us; for they are just signals of love from our Heavenly Father, although some great poet called them "the for-get-me-nots of the angels." Don't you think we ought to thank our Heavenly Father all these good and beautiful things?

Day and night together have twenty-four hours and there are 365 days in a year—just think how many beautiful sunrises and sunsets and pretty nights we have from Xmas to Xmas. Well, away up near the north end of the earth called North Pole and away down at the south end or South Pole, they have only one day, six months long and one night six months long. What do you think of that? Of course, the people, we call the Eskimos, can not sleep all those dark months and have to use torch lights to hunt reindeer, wolves, big white bears, cut blocks of ice out of the rivers to fish in or kill the seals or harpoon a whale. Aren't you glad you are a child of the "Sunny South" where even during our cold months after the green leaves have changed to gold and reds and browns and carpeted Mother Earth—often sprigs of green grasses peep through and flowers bloom and perfume the air.

Well, the "Little Tots" of the far North and far South dress in furs made from skins of wild animals and the wee babies in clothes made of down or feathers from wild birds. They live in ice houses cut out of mountains of ice; lined and carpeted with skins of wild animals—ride in sleighs pulled by dogs or reindeer. They have no way to warm their churches, so when they take their little children they dig a hole in the snow near by, wrap the little ones in furs and put it in the hole and cover with snow and leave them to sleep while they go into the church and listen to the sermon. Would you love for your mama and papa to treat you that way? How glad they must be to see their glorious sunrise and warm the air a little, so they can fish and hunt and what fun they have skating on ice, hunting duck eggs and sleigh-riding, trapping animals, watching riverlets trickle down mountains of snow sometimes causing mountain slides.

LITERATURE LOVING LADIES.

When Dante told his love to Bee,
In timid song that held no flaw,
Pledging eternal constancy,
—She answered, "Aw!"

When Herrick sang his Julia's praise
With magic words the maid he wooed;
And when she heard his lyric lays,
"Uh-huh," she cooed.

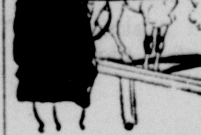

When Byron hurled his burning chants
At every Mabel, Jane or Liz,
She listened to his gay romance
And lisped, "Gee whizz!"

And when to Carolyn I sing
As Dante, Herrick, Byron did,
She acts as charmed as anything,
And cries, "Oh, kid!" —The Jester.

DETAIL OF SOME IMPORTANCE

To Most People It Would Seem a Necessary Part of Outfit Had Been Omitted.

Col. John K. Hendrick, former congressman from the First district of Kentucky, has an attribute common among the citizens of his state he greatly admires a good trotting horse.

One fine spring morning he visited the driving track near the town where he resides, to spend a happy hour quietly watching various owners and trainers exercising their stock. A tobacco raiser from the back of the county swung down the home stretch behind a bony, awkward, skittish, weird-looking animal. The trap in which the farmer sat was the best that money could buy, and as shiny as paint and varnish could make it; the harness was new, ornate, and elaborate. He halted in front of Colonel Hendrick.

"Hey, John!" he called out. "What do you think of this outfit?"

"Fine, Jeff; fine!" stated Colonel Hendrick. "Perfectly splendid! I congratulate you. There's only one thing more needed to make it absolutely complete."

"What's that?" demanded the surprised countryman.

"A hoss!" said the colonel.

"Tire" Chains for Human Feet.

For weeks the streets of New York, Chicago, and various other American cities have been covered with a thick layer of smooth ice, resulting in an uncertain footing for pedestrians and in an unusual number of falls. Rubbers have been of but little use as a means of maintaining one's equilibrium on the slippery surface. Indeed, to many, particularly the aged folk, the icy pavements have been a constant source of terror, the Scientific American states.

Whether the ice remains or not, relief is in sight. The introduction of the tire chain principle for pedestrians now promises to solve the icy pavement problem. This up-to-the-minute device consists merely of a simple chain net which slips under the sole of each shoe, and a leather strap which passes about the heel and serves to hold the antislip member in place. As in the instance of the conventional tire chain, this foot chain effectively prevents slipping.

Ventilating Prospect Holes.

A novel method has been adopted by some ingenious prospectors in Montana for ventilating their prospect holes. When they have dug to such a depth that fresh air no longer circulates freely to the bottom of the hole, they set up an air-tight stove at the edge of the shaft, putting up three or four lengths of stovepipe for a chimney and running another pipe from the bottom of the hole to the air intake at the front of the stove. The latter pipe is held in place by fastening it to the shaft timbering. When a fire is built in the stove, air is drawn from the bottom of the shaft and fresh air circulates downward to replace it. Ventilation can be secured in this way to a considerable depth.

Government Clerks Employed.

A provincial British paper prints the following tribute to the activity of government clerks in these times, with an added sarcasm as to their supposed idleness in former days:

"In a stroll through town by night one may see in certain streets many men doing clerical work behind blindless windows. They are the overtimers of the government departments, some of which have extended to extra houses. The spectacle may satisfy the persons who used to complain that, despite all the schemes for relieving the unemployed, nothing seemed to be done for young men in government offices."—Outlook.

A Discordant Note.

Life is made possible to us by the sacrifices of other people. The wheel would soon come to a standstill if there were no unselfish love in the world. When we become so self-centered that we think only of ourselves and the gratification of our own desires, our lives are a discordant note in the harmony of the universe. We must be loving and unselfish to pay back the debt we owe.—Girl's Companion.

Seek Tomb of St. Paul.

St. Paul's tomb is being sought for by archeologists in Rome. Excavations which have been made near the basilica of St. Paul have revealed interesting pagan and Christian tombs, dealing from the first period of Christianity in Rome. Professor Lanciani hopes to discover the tomb of St. Paul.

JAMES QUARLES DIES AT AUSTIN

Secretary of State Board of Water
Engineers.—Prominent
Newspaperman

Austin, Tex., Dec. 22.—James Hays Quarles, secretary of the state board of water engineers, was found dead in bed early this morning. Death was due to natural causes, an attack of acute indigestion resulting in his demise.

Mr. Quarles was widely known over the state, having been connected with practically every important Texas newspaper during the past 25 years. He had been in the state's service for about two years.

Began Newspaper Career in 1890
Waco, Tex., Dec. 22.—The funeral of Mr. Quarles will take place here Tuesday afternoon, on the arrival of the Katy train from Austin, this train being scheduled to reach here at 2:55 P. M. Rev. W. P. Witzell, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, of which Mr. Quarles was a member, will officiate, and interment will be made in Oakwood cemetery.

Jim Quarles was born in Waco, Oct. 16, 1869, little more than fifty years ago, and he was reared in this city. As a boy his first work was that of office boy for the Bradstreet commercial agency here.

It was in 1890 that Jim began his newspaper career, and his first journalistic career, and his first journalistic work was gathering society personals for the Waco Morning Day this being prior to the time that women were utilized for the handling of society items in Waco papers. Mr. Quarles was a protege of the late State Senator A. R. McCollum, under whose tutelage he developed into one of the best known newspaper men connected with practically every daily paper in Waco, and his last work as a newspaper man in this city was that of news editor of the Waco Daily Tribune. He left here in about October, 1917, to accept the position of secretary of the state board of water engineers, which he occupied at the time of his death.

Mr. Quarles, at one time, was on the staff of the Dallas News, the Fort Worth Gazette and other big state papers, and for quite awhile he was night editor of the Houston Post. He conducted weekly papers, at Brenham and Gainesville, and he was connected with a paper in Richmond, Va. when Dr. R. E. Vinson, at that time pastor of a church in that city, was called to the presidency of the University of Texas.

For some years Mr. Quarles was in charge of the publicity department of A. and M. college, being the first to fill this position, which he did with his well known ability.

Jim Quarles was a cousin of the late Mark Twain, and the latter some time before his death, sent Mr. Quarles an autograph copy of all his works. Mr. Quarles was also in intimate friend of Opie Read, and the latter utilized Mr. Quarles as one of the characters in one of his books.

District Court
The case of State vs. H. G. Smith, which was reported in last week's issue, went to trial Monday morning, and resulted in a verdict of not guilty Wednesday afternoon about 4:00 o'clock. The jury took less than 20 minutes to render the verdict.

Mr. Smith was alleged to have killed a negro, named Osie Lowery, at his farm on the 23rd day of last August, and claimed to have shot him in self-defense. The evidence developed that the negro was grasping a Colt 45 revolver in his hand at the time he was killed. Contrary to the usual question, all 12 of the members of the jury signed the verdict.

Mr. Smith resides near Baileyville in this county on his farm with his wife and one child, and is a highly respected citizen. He was surrounded by many friends during the progress of the trial.

The defendant, in this case, was represented by Messrs. Wallace & Chambers, and the State by County Attorney Baskin and the Assistant Attorney, A. J. Lewis.

New York, Dec. 21.—A new planet is believed to be responsible for irregularities in the motion of the planet Neptune, Prof. Harold Jacoby of Columbia university, announced tonight. It is supposed to be about the same size as the earth, but farther away from the sun than any other planet.

Professor Jacoby said that astronomers of the country will attempt to locate and photograph the new celestial body between Dec. 30 and Jan. 31 when conditions are "most favorable to the discovery."

RELIGIOUS WORSHIP

How many of our people enter a church for a religious meeting, with a feeling quite unlike that with which they attend a rally of the various kinds held by the community? Is the sense of worship becoming absent from our churches? There is a tendency that way, at any rate, and it is causing religious leaders to think.

The Baptist Standard, at Chicago says: "No one familiar with the status of public worship in this country can deny that in many churches it has been largely secularized. While this is particularly true of the Sunday evening service, it is true in a measure of the Sunday morning service. Our congregations are congregations no longer; they are loist whose work, however technically perfect, is often not conducive to worship. While the scripture is being read, many in the audience are reading the printed calendar; and during the prayer only a part of the audience has the attitude of worship. In many cases this non-worshipful atmosphere is due to kal-somine and kindred things, for we have not yet acquired the art of building meetinghouses in which worship is easy and natural. In other cases it is due to a fundamental lack of reverence in the one who conducts the service."

MINISTER EXPOUNDS SPIRIT OF CHRISTMAS

Dr. George W. Truett Says Love of God and Service are Inseparable

"A man can not love God without serving humanity," declared Dr. George W. Truett in his Christmas sermon yesterday morning at the First Baptist Church. "Love of God embraces human service, and one can not discharge his obligation to God without uplifting and inspiring needy humanity."

Dr. Truett used as his text the passage from St. Matthew which reads: "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

"This passage expresses the very spirit of service. Every man, however mean, impoverished or abandoned, is infinitely sublime in the eyes of God, and he adjures us to help all such persons. We may ask, 'Who is our neighbor?' Our neighbor is anybody who has need of our message of ministry. He may live next door to us, he may live in some other city or he may be an inhabitant of some far-away island. If he have need of our services, we must help him."

"I have no use for the monk, the hermit or the recluse. Such men can never do their real duty by humanity. To do this we must mingle with the throng, find out the needs of mankind and do our part toward lightening the load of life for everyone we meet."

World a Whispering Gallery
"The doctrine of the solidarity of mankind is being preached more and more. And well it should be. We have come to learn that one nation can not live apart from the rest of the world, but that the whole world is one big whispering gallery, and that what we do here is known and felt on the other side of the planet."

"No man can live unto himself alone, neither can any nation live unto itself alone. We are all bound up in the big bundle of life. We must arrive to uplift, inspire and disenthral for the Christmas spirit exhorts that we do so. The Christmas spirit is constructive; it involves obligations to mankind that are inescapable."

Dr. Truett declared that although it is contrary to his policy to discuss political issues in the pulpit, it was his conviction that the men responsible for delayed action on the peace treaty and League of Nations will answer for their acts before the judgment bar of God. He said he was not surprised that some Japanese newspapers referred to the United States Senate as a "frivolous body" for its dilatory tactics.

Following the sermon an offering was taken, to be used in buying food and clothing for the orphans of the Buckner Orphanage.

Dr. Truett announced that he had not had time to prepare his annual Christmas cards for members and friends of the church, but that his Yuletide message and greetings were published yesterday in the "Reminder," the weekly church bulletin.

"MERRY CHRISTMAS"

Hail Merry Christmas—the merriest day of the merriest year in many, many years. Then "Merry Christmas" Everyone.

It's an age-old, time-worn adage, but there's nothing that will ever more fully express our wishes, and so we are wishing it for you.

The nearer we approach the happy Yuletide Season the more we are impressed with the warm, throbbing, joyous significance of "Merry Christmas" and this year it's going to be a very merry one.

For the best of all that this year brings to us is the revival of that old-time spirit of warmth and contentment, interspersed with a glad new joy. We have at last stripped away some of the shucks of show and superficiality and have found revealed the rare, true, untarnished kernel of the old-fashioned Christmas—the gift-spirit of service, of forgetting ourselves in the happiness of others.

Then welcome, Merry Christmas day,
When spirits glow, as candles gleam,
And joyous children lead the way
To happiness supreme.
When warmth and love and friendliness,
Replace our selfish, small desires,
As heart meets heart, at Love's behest,
Around the Yuletide fires.

Announcement is made that the task of enforcing war prohibition will be placed squarely up to the local state and municipal authorities. The federal government it is said, will not intervene until obvious inefficiency on the part of the local official make such a step imperative. This means that where the people of the country favor prohibition the laws will be in their hand, and enforcement of it will be up to them so long as they make a decent showing. In wet cities and sections however, where local officials are out of sympathy with the laws, special effort will be made by the government to enforce the law.

This is a new interpretation of enforcing a federal law, but we are not disposed to quibble. The government will have its hands full for a time, and all good citizens everywhere should help in making the law respected. As Federal Enforcement Commissioner Kramer says there will be now only two classes, those "who are in favor of obeying the law, whether their personal views are in harmony with the law or not, and those who will be ready and anxious to violate the law."

This is a fair statement of the case. We are all apt to praise laws, and the due observation thereof, when they suit us and put the screws to the rest of the folks, but whenever one of them happens to stop some of our own privileges, we open up and begin to shout "personal liberty." The sickest sort of antics are being performed by the bitter-souled and anti-prohibitionists, who are really anxious to see others, violate the laws, even if they are not game enough to do so themselves. Prohibition will be enforced in time; there is no doubt about that.

The American Jersey Cattle Club reports that Lulu Alpha, of Ashburn, a Jersey cow of extraordinary talents, has broken the world's record for producing an article of conspicuous domestic merit. According to reports, she contributed 13,000 pounds of milk to the world in the course of a year. From this milk, 1,000 pounds of butter were made, or about 100 pounds more than Lulu herself weighs.

What inspired Lulu to this wonderful performance is not made plain, though the cattle fancier will of course attribute it to her excellent patronage and the good care bestowed upon her. But perhaps the plight of the world moved her to show that she was not only noble by birth but also noble by her own right. Almost simultaneously with the announcement of her feat there came a dispatch stating that babies were being abandoned in New York because their parents could not afford to pay exorbitant prices for milk. The high prices are due to a shortage—they always are—somewhat aggravated by a get-rich-quick distributors and producers and $60-a-week milkmen. Lulu is referred to them as a wholesome example of honest public service.

Lulu's valiant efforts to reduce the cost of milk and butter are wholly commendable, but if her example is followed by many cows there will be trouble. Such production records must inevitably result in a generous supply, and that is likely, as in many food industries, to result in drastic methods of reducing the supply in order that the price may be maintained, the intention being to make a large profit on a small quantity. This seems to be the ambition of many people. Big wages for small efforts, big profits on a small turnover—they amount to the same thing. But there is some comfort in knowing that the bovine population is sticking to prudent standards.—The Indianapolis News.

Into the general store of a village in Virginia there came one day not long ago a diminutive darky, who laid upon the counter a single egg, and said, "Boss, my mudder says, please give me some butter for dis aig."

The storekeeper smiled. "Why," he said, "you can get two needles for an egg."

"No, boss," continued the darky, "my mudder don't want no two needles; she says, please give me de change in cheese."—Harper's Magazine.

A comma is a little thing, but as is a cinder in your eye. In the wrong place, little things can cause a great deal of trouble.

Good roads promote self-respect in a community. They make possible social intercourse. They bring the benefits of churches and schools within the reach of all. They help to keep the boys on the farm. They cheapen the cost of transportation of farm products to the markets and thus add to the farm profits. They add to the value of farm lands much more than they cost. They mark the degree of civilization of the rural community.—Waco Times-Herald.

NO CHRISTMAS TREE AT WHITE HOUSE THIS YEAR.

There will be no Christmas tree at the White House this year. The President and Mrs. Wilson plan to spend the day quietly.
Mr. Wilson will eat Christmas dinner in his room and it is not expected that his daughters, Mrs. William G. McAdoo and Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, and his grandchildren will be at the White House.

MISTAKE IN JUNIOR EDITOR

By mistake Mr. Stewart Epperson's name has been printed heretofore as Junior Editor. But Mr. Epperson resigned some time ago and Miss Josephine Smith was elected to fill the vacancy in the Junior Editorship.
We tender our sincere apology to both parties concerned and will see to it at once that the error is remedied.

CAM-HI ANNUAL NEWS.

The editor-in-chief and business manager of the Annual are working hard on the Annual and according to them this year's Annual will be the best one ever put out by the students of Cameron High School.

On last Monday the different classes were called to separate class meetings. The purpose of these meetings was to select a class beauty from each class and to see who was the most popular boy in the whole High School.

The result of the elections is as follows:

Senior, Miss Juanita Caldwell.
Junior, Miss Louise Denson.
Sophomore, Miss Bessie Wiley.
Freshman, Miss Mabel Aiken.
The most popular boy of Cam-Hi, Mr. Leland Denson from the Senior class.

The pictures of these beautiful young ladies and the popular young man will be printed in the Annual.

Last week the pictures of the Junior, Sophomore and Freshman classes were made. These are pictures for the Annual. At first the Juniors wanted to have their pictures taken separately but they later decided to have the picture taken of the whole class on the front steps of the school.

All the football boys brought their suits Thursday afternoon to have the football picture made. But when school turned out the weather would not allow the picture to be taken. So the boys will have to appear with their "toggerly" some other time.

THE DEMOSTHENIAN LITERARY SOCIETY.

On Monday night of December 15, the Demosthenian Literary Society met in regular session. The roll call found very few members absent. The minutes were then read and accepted, and old and new business was brought before the house and discussed.

A debate then followed. The subject for debate was "Resolved that five points, each quarter, should be given to every student that represents the school in the inter-scholastic league meet, both in Debating and Declamation." The affirmative was ably represented by Mr. Charley Frank Green and Mr. Frank Plaster, while the negative was represented by Mr. Eber Flinn and Mr. Eugene Matula. The debate was interesting and well fought, and the result was victory for the affirmative by a vote of two to one of the judges.

Following the debate was a talk by Mr. J. N. Crawford, which closed a successful and enthusiastic meeting.

GIRLS CLUB.

The Girls Club met in regular session on Thursday afternoon December 18, 1919. The meeting was called to order by the president, after which the minutes were read and approved. A report was given from each of the committees, and then the following Christmas program was rendered:

"While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks"—Velda Walker.

"Story of the Three Wise Men"—Book One of Ben Hur—Mildred Chambers.

"The Continued Story"—Maurine Messimer.

"Reading of the Letters to Santa Claus"—Each Member of Club.

"Distribution of Presents."

The club room was decorated with beautiful Christmas decorations, and in the front of the room was a lovely Christmas tree loaded down with presents. Each member of the club had brought a present for the poor children of the town and sitting beside the tree was a huge basket of presents for them. Santa could not be present but he had come by before-hand and had left a present for each member of the club and he had also remembered Mr. Kidd and Mr. Crawford.

Each member of the club had written a letter to Santa and judges were appointed to decide which was the best letter. Miss Sue Ida Smith was the lucky young lady and was presented with a handsomely decorated picture book.

After a report from the critic and the supervisor, the president announced that the next meeting would be held the ninth day of January 1920. The club then adjourned, each member wishing the other a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

C. L. C.

Thursday, December 18, the Current Literary Club met to carry out its Christmas program. While the tree was being arranged several members went in cars after the children who were to enjoy it.

The first number was the reading of the minutes by the secretary. Next, "The Night Before Christmas," by Miss Mabel Akin. When that had been finished a jolly "Santy" entered with a basket of toys for the good little boys and girls that were assembled. The gifts were donated by the members and were given out by Santa Clause, and consisted of tin wagons, rubber balls, books, dolls, toy guns, marbles and stockings filled with candy, nuts and fruit.

After the gifts had been distributed, "The Night After Christmas" was recited by Miss Mary Young.

The meeting then adjourned and the happy participants were taken home with full arms.

DEMOSTHENIANS CHALLENGE GIRLS CLUB

The Demosthenian Literary Society, composed of the boys of the High school has challenged the Girls Club to a joint debate, the debate to be held at a time agreeable to both sides. The Girls Club has accepted the challenge and some time in the near future this debate will be held. The first of last week Mr. Kidd made a talk to the Study Hall in which he encouraged the work done by the various clubs of Cam-Hi.

THE CAMERON HIGH SCHOOL BAND.

On Sunday afternoon, the Cameron High School Concert band gave a sacred concert in the high school auditorium. A program of sacred and classical music was rendered in the usual way in which this band plays. We are proud of our band and are always willing to give it a boost. The band is improving and by the time for the summer concerts the band will be one of the best in the state.

A free offering was taken to help pay out the balance on some bass instruments and drums. A neat sum was handed in by the girls taking the collection, and we are asked to especially thank the girls for their kindness in helping the boys.

We understand that more concerts will be given during the year.

WEEKLY EXPLOSIVES

Furthermore, we wish to state that there is a growing anxiety among the members of the Junior class. They fear the Seniors will not make good the promise for a party.

The Cam-Hi Widow's grief is lessened by the approaching leap year.

Mr. Solomon says that he hasn't decided which is going to win in the oncoming debate between the Boys Club and the Girls Club.

We wish to announce that Mr. Leon Collins, a member of the Juniors, has blossomed forth in long pants.

PERSONALS

Mr. Joyce Cox, Editor-in-Chief of Cam-Hi Weekly, has gone to Nashville, Tenn., to visit relatives.

All of the teachers of Cam-Hi will visit in their various homes during the holidays.

BASKETBALL NEWS

The Juniors and Seniors have each won three games and lost one. The tie will be played off next week. The Fish have one record of playing three games and losing only three. Hooray for the Freshmen.

PASSING OF THE POOL HALLS

The legal wrangle may continue for awhile longer, but the pool hall in Texas is doomed, and the operators who are keeping their places open despite the latest Federal court decision are but postponing the day of the funeral. The business has passed to the great beyond.

The time-honored chatter about personal and inalienable rights naturally arises in such a matter as closing up a lucrative trade in anything, but the fact remains that when any business degenerates into a nuisance and public sentiment demands that it be abated, the owner of that business may as well seek a new occupation.

The pool hall follows the saloon into the discard because it has become a nuisance only a little less dangerous than the saloon itself.

A gathering place for idlers, vagrants, gamblers and loafers generally it was a community sore spot wherever found to be operated as a place open to all comers.

It attracted young men during their leisure hours, and the fascination of the games tended to draw them away from their pursuits and wholesome recreations and pleasures, and to make confirmed loafers of them. Worse than that, many such places were schools of instruction in clandestine gambling and turned out their graduates by the score each year.

And after the saloons closed, the element that frequented the lowest liquor dives took up their abode in the pool hall of the same character, where bootleggers found a rendezvous and a market.

At a time when every ounce of manhood and character is needed by young men to bring the country back to a stable economic, moral and political basis, any institution operating to create idleness and stimulate law-breaking should not be tolerated.

The people of Texas through their representatives outlawed the pool hall because they knew it exerted an influence largely evil, and there is little doubt but that their will in the matter will eventually be carried out.

When the halls finally close, there will likely be a sudden increase in the visible supply of labor in Texas cities.—Houston Post.

PAPER PROFITS.

In the height of the mining boom 12 years ago there were nearly 150 millionaires in Nevada on paper. Three months later the definition of a Nevada millionaire was "a man with an automobile and an overdraft." Their profits were in paper and they could not get them out.

Their books showed millions made in stocks, but when the panic of 1907 hit the country, when the miners of Goldfield went on strike, those stocks—most of them—were not worth the paper they were written on. Their owners could not sell them.

Now another period of prosperity is swinging around to this country. Through thrift and self-sacrifice during the war, the workers of America have ready money. Fraudulent promoters know this and the country is being flooded with wildcat stocks. They promise enormous profits but they pay no money.

These confidence men will try to induce you to exchange your Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps for these pieces of paper. If you do so, you will give your money to buy luxuries for a thief.

War Savings and Thrift Stamps are the best investments in the world. When you put your money into those securities you can get it out, all of it, with interest, and you can get it when you need it. No stock market thimble-rigging can influence their value and when you buy War Savings Stamps, nobody knows the size of your bank roll but you.
